PRELIMINARY OBSERVATIONS.

THE ACT which was carried into effect in the Year 1801, “ for taking an Account of the POPULATION of Great Britain, and of the Increase or Diminution thereof,”—having now been repeated in the Years 1811 and 1821, a Comparison of the Results of these National Investigations seems to be required, not only as the Population Abstracts of 1801, 1811, and 1821, may hereafter be referred to in connection with each other, but because a large volume, consisting chiefly of Names and Figures, cannot be readily and effectually consulted without such previous Explanation as may serve to shew the Method and Order pursued in digesting and connecting the Subject-matter of the ENUMERATION Abstract and of the PARISH-REGISTER Abstract; and in so doing on the present occasion, the OBSERVATIONS prefixed to the volume of 1811 will be repeated with such alterations and additions as have become necessary from another Repetition of the Population Act, which affords a further Comparison of Results, and contains a new Enquiry regarding the AGES of PERSONS.

I.

Enumeration Abstract.

THE QUESTIONS, by means of which was to be ascertained the NUMBER of HOUSES, FAMILIES and PERSONS, (with the Ages of Persons in the Year 1821) were as follow; Viz.

QUESTIONS

ADDRESSED TO THE OVERSEERS IN ENGLAND; AND TO

THE SCHOOLMASTERS IN SCOTLAND:

Who are respectively required to take an Account of the Resident Population, by proceeding from House to House, on the Twenty-eighth day of May one thousand eight hundred and twenty-one, and on the days immediately subsequent thereto, if one day shall not be sufficient; and they are also required to specify in writing the Name of the Parish or Place in the Schedule, and whether it be usually called a Parish, Township, Tything, Quarter; or by what other Denomination.

1st—HOW many Inhabited Houses are there in your Parish, Township, or Place; and by how many Families are they occupied?

2^d—HOW many Houses are now building, and therefore not yet inhabited?

3^d—HOW many other Houses are Inhabited?

4th—WHAT Number of Families in your Parish, Township, or Place, are chiefly employed in and maintained by Agriculture, or by Trade, Manufacture, or Handicraft; and how many Families are not comprized in either of the Two preceding Classes?

N. B.—The total Number of Families in Answer to this Question, must correspond with the Number of Families in Answer to the 1st Question; and if any Doubts shall arise as to the Class in which any Family or Families ought to be comprized, such Doubt is to be stated as a Remark (under Question 7th,) not omitting therein to specify in which Class such Family or Families may have been comprized in your Answer to the 4th Question.

5th—HOW many Persons (including Children of whatever Age) are there actually found within the Limits of your Parish, Township, or Place, at the Time of taking this Account, distinguishing Males and Females, and exclusive of Men actually serving in His Majesty's Regular Forces, in the Old Militia, or in any embodied Local Militia, and exclusive of Seamen either in His Majesty's Service, or belonging to Registered Vessels?

6th—REFERRING to the Number of Persons in one thousand eight hundred and eleven, To what Cause do you attribute any remarkable Difference in the Number at present?

7th—IF you are of Opinion that in making the preceding Enquiries (or at any Time before returning this Schedule,) the Ages of the several Individuals can be obtained in a Manner satisfactory to yourself, and not inconvenient to the Parties, be pleased to state (or cause to be stated) the Number of those who are under 5 Years of Age, of those between 5 and 10 Years of Age, between 10 and 15, between 15 and 20, between 20 and 30, between 30 and 40, between 40 and 50, between 50 and 60, between 60 and 70, between 70 and 80, between 80 and 90, between 90 and 100, and upwards of 100, distinguishing Males from Females;—And are there any other Matters which you may think it necessary to remark in Explanation of your Answer to this or any of the preceding Questions;—And in what Manner and to what Place of Residence and Post Office Town are Letters intended for you usually directed?

SIMILAR QUESTIONS had been asked under the authority of the Population Act of 1801; excepting only that in the Acts of 1811, and 1821, the Question regarding "UNINHABITED HOUSES" was divided, for the sake of distinguishing Unfinished Houses, and "therefore not yet Inhabited," from Houses uninhabited from any other cause:—and excepting an Alteration in the Question regarding "OCCUPATIONS," which in the Act of 1801 applied to Persons, but in those of 1811 and 1821 to Families. The additional Question of 1821, concerning AGES, will require particular notice in a subsequent part of these Observations.

The propriety of distinguishing New, but unfinished Houses, an indication of prosperity,—from Houses in decay, or uninhabited from any other cause authorizing an opposite inference,—needs no explanation;—and to have proceeded further, so as to have defined more exactly in the first question, What is to be deemed an inhabited House? might have produced new difficulties, and would certainly have destroyed the power of comparison between the Returns of 1801, 1811, and 1821; yet unavoidable doubts have occurred occurred in making the Return; Are conjoined tenements inhabited by distinct families, and distinctly rated and taxed, to be deemed distinct Houses, or otherwise? Of a much more doubtful class are the Flats or Floors usual in the large Towns in Scotland; so are Stables and other Out-houses to which Bed-rooms are attached. But these distinctions and others which may be traced in some of the Returns, were deemed upon consideration to be too minute in putting a general question, and are merely mentioned for the sake of the curious enquirer, who may have occasion to draw inferences from the number of Houses as entered in the Abstract.

The Question of 1801 relating to the Occupations of Persons, was found in practice to produce no valuable Result. In some instances, a Householder seemed to understand that the Females of his Family, his Children, and Servants, ought to be classed with himself; but generally these appear to have been referred to the Third Class, as being neither Agricultural nor Commercial: insomuch that in some places, where the Population was known to be almost entirely Agricultural, the Returns of 1801 do not assign above a third part to that Class; and in Commercial Towns a similar paucity of Persons employed in Trade, is sometimes observable. When the Returns came in, the failure of the Question was manifest, and accordingly no labour was bestowed in attempting to correct the Answers in which the Number of Persons ascribed to the Three Classes did not coincide with the total Number of Persons. In fact it appears to have fallen short of that Total by above Half a Million; a sufficient indication that no inference can safely be drawn from the columns of the Abstract of 1801, purporting to class the Population according to Occupations.

It may be seen that the amended Question in the Acts of 1811 and 1821 enquires,—“What Number of Families [not of Persons] are chiefly employed in or maintained by “Agriculture? How many by Trade, Manufacture, or Handicraft? and how many “Families are not comprized in either of these Classes?”—and in general the Answers appear to have been made with care and sufficient distinctness. The same kind of doubt as in the Question regarding inhabited Houses remains, and, for the same reason, must remain, regarding Families. What is to be deemed a distinct Family? One single person inhabiting a house cannot but be returned as a Family, although the word Family usually denotes more persons than one. But there is difficulty regarding Inmates, who in the various degrees of connection arising in domestic arrangements, may be deemed of the same family, or a distinct family. Single persons lodging in houses inhabited by a family, seem not usually to have been reckoned as distinct Families; never perhaps when they are boarded also. In some few of the Returns of 1821 the Question of 1801 was answered, the number of Persons instead of Families appearing in the classification; in some the number of Houses instead of Families was accounted for; but these and other casual inaccuracies occurred too seldom to invalidate any general conclusion; and in all cases of doubt, Letters were dispatched to the Overseer or Schoolmaster, and explanation procured. In many Schedules where the intention was evident, though the Number or Classification was erroneous, correction was applied; and upon the whole, it may be said, that in the formation of the Abstract nothing occurred to create a wish for any further alteration of the Question regarding Occupations, unless it were possible to settle in which of the classes Miners, Fishermen, and those employed in Inland Navigation ought to be placed. Several of the Returns of 1821 contained the desired remark on this subject, showing to what class such persons had therein been assigned. These remarks are not omitted in the Notes, which are inserted at the bottom of the page throughout the Abstract.

In the Answers respecting the Families employed in Agriculture, a remarkable proof occurred of the difficulty of putting any Question which shall be universally understood in the same manner. In some few places the Occupiers of Land, but not Labourers in Agriculture, are supposed to belong to that Class; in other places exactly the contrary. Doubts are expressed in some of the Returns, whether Shepherds and Graziers (as they are not, strictly speaking, employed in the Culture of the earth,) ought to be ascribed to the Agricultural Class; such opinions, however, are usually notified, or otherwise apparent, and any mistake resulting from them has been corrected in entering the Return in the Abstract.

The subject of Classification may be dismissed by stating, that the Third or Negative Class appears to consist chiefly of superannuated Labourers, and Widows resident in small Tenements; this may serve to shew that scarcely any information can be drawn from the numbers which appear in the Third or Negative Class: From the Two former Classes, and especially the Agricultural, important inferences may with confidence be deduced; for instance, that in the year 1811, rather more than one-third part of the Population of Great Great Britain (or, more accurately, 352 in 1,000) were employed in raising subsistence for the other two-thirds; that in the year 1821, the proportion had decreased to one-third (333 in 1,000):—the degree in which the Population of the several Counties of Great Britain is Agricultural, may of course be easily deduced from the respective County Summaries.

A Calculation has also been made upon the Comparative Population of each County, in the same periods. [See pp. xxxii—xxxv.]

The Number of Males composing the ARMY, NAVY, &c. includes The Regular Army, The Artillery, and The British Regular Militia, all according to official documents; the Regiments of Local Militia, which were embodied for Training and Exercise on the 27th May 1811, were ascribed to their respective Counties: not so, nor on the present occasion, the Regular Militia; because the Substitutes serving therein, (by far the greater proportion of Regular Militia-Men) are not always taken from among the Inhabitants of the County for which they serve. With the Navy are included The Royal Marines: and to all these are added The Seamen employed in navigating Registered Vessels.—None of these Classes can be ascribed to particular Counties, nor consequently taken into account in the foregoing Comparative Statement, otherwise than in the General Total;—nor properly in that, without making allowance for the large number of Foreigners (perhaps 100,000) employed as Merchant Seamen during the War, and consequently taken into account in 1811:—nor without considering, that many Soldiers and Sailors are attributable to Ireland; which consideration would operate proportionally upon the larger Number of Men serving in 1811, as compared with the smaller Number in 1821. In order therefore to avoid the uncertainty hereby indicated, the Rate of Increase has been separately calculated on the respective numbers of Females only, viz.

FEMALES -	5,492,354	14 or 14.02	6,262,716	15 $\frac{4}{5}$ or 15.82	7,253,723	FEMALES.

And the absolute Increase of Population in Great Britain (if measured by doubling that of FEMALES only) appears to have been about One Million and a Half in the first period, Two Millions in the second period.

How far this apparent Increase is sustained by a comparison of the Baptisms with the Burials (as entered in the Parish Registers) during these periods, will be discussed in a subsequent subsequent part of these Observations; in this place it seems proper rather to explain the order in which the Returns have been digested for ready Reference,—such Explanation being necessary, or at least serviceable to all who may have occasion to consult the Population Abstract.

THE leading Division of England into Shires or Counties appears to have been established by our Saxon Ancestors above a thousand years since; almost all the Counties being mentioned in History before the extinction of the Saxon Heptarchy. In the Population Abstract the Counties are placed in Alphabetical order, and in England each distinctly; but in Scotland it has been found necessary to join the Shires of Cromarty and Ross, the former being as it were scattered in about Fifteen separate fragments throughout the latter, and being indeed usually considered in modern Laws as forming part of it. Much inconvenience is experienced by the Inhabitants of the Shires of Ross and Cromarty from these numerous “Annexations,” which were made by authority of two Acts of the Parliament of Scotland in 1685 and 1698, in favour of an Individual, whose estate was thus consolidated into one jurisdiction.

The further Division of the Southern parts of England into Hundreds is also unquestionably of Saxon origin, and probably in imitation of similar districts which existed in their parent Country: * but in what manner the Name was here applied, is not certain. At least one hundred (which in Saxon Numeration means one hundred and twenty†) Free Men, Householders, answerable for each other, may be supposed originally to have been found in each Hundred; for that the Hundreds were originally regulated by the Free Population is evident from the great number of Hundreds in the Counties first peopled by the Saxons. Thus Kent and Sussex at the time when Domesday Book was compiled, each contained more than Sixty Hundreds, as they do at present; and in the Counties which composed the antient Kingdom of Wessex, the Hundreds are almost as numerous. In Lancashire, a County of greater area than any of these, there are no more than Six Hundreds,—in Cheshire, Seven: and upon the whole, so irregular is this distribution of territory, that while several Hundreds do not exceed a square Mile in area, nor One thousand Persons in Population, the Hundreds of Lancashire average at Three Hundred square Miles in area, and the Population contained in one of them (Salford Hundred) is above 320,000.

This striking irregularity seems to have been felt as an inconvenience as early as the time of Henry VIII, when a remedy was attempted by ordaining Divisions (called also Limits or Circuits) which still exist (more or less manifestly) in most of the English Counties. These Divisions appear to have been formed by a junction of small Hundreds, or a partition of large Hundreds, as convenience required in each particular case, and are recognized in subsequent Acts which regard the Maintenance and Relief of the Poor.

But time, which had caused the irregularity of the ancient Hundreds, gradually has the same effect on more modern arrangements; so that to alter the Names or Limits of the ancient Hundreds would really be equivalent to inventing and being forced to learn a new and changeable language, instead of retaining in use that which has been established for ages. An instance of the inconvenience of such reform occurs in Wales, several of the Counties of which were created by Act of Parliament in 1535, and the ancient Districts called *Cantref*s and Commots altered into Hundreds, by virtue of a Commission under the Great Seal for that purpose; but the alteration was attended with much unexpected difficulty, three years, and afterwards three years further, being allowed for it by subsequent Acts of Parliament; and after all this deliberation, the new Counties and Hundreds exhibit more instances of indistinct boundary, that is, of Parishes and Townships not conterminous with the County or Hundred, than do the ancient Counties; while the abolished *Cantref*s and Commots are not yet quite forgotten, and occasionally cause some confusion.

Such Innovations are really unnecessary, as Temporary Districts for present convenience will always be settled by the Civil Magistrates, or by custom, around each place where where Petty Sessions are usually holden*: and in like manner for the business of the Lieutenantcy of each County, Sub-Divisions are formed from the ancient Hundreds, subject to such alteration as circumstances may require.

In the Northern Counties, formerly exposed to hostile Invasion, Wards and Wapentakes stand in place of Hundreds; and in the Population Abstract they are alike arranged in Alphabetical order in each County.

Where the Divisions are very ancient, as the Lathes of Kent and the Rapes of Sussex, or where necessary from the multiplicity of the Hundreds, as in Hampshire and Dorset, they are preserved, and their several Hundreds ranged under them. The Rapes of Sussex were Military Divisions at the time when Domesday Book was compiled; and the Lathes of Kent may have had a similar origin, connected perhaps with the Cinque Ports, and for the Defence of the Coast against invasion. The Divisions of Dorset underwent a change in the year 1740.

One exception to the general arrangement occurs in regard to the larger Towns, which as usual are placed at the end of their several Counties. For this there is a better reason than at first sight appears: Corporate Towns and some others have a peculiar Jurisdiction, and really are not in any Hundred. The degree of separation and exemption varies infinitely, as might be expected, and cannot be reduced to any general rule, being indeed sometimes a subject of Litigation. Hence the strict propriety of placing many Cities and Towns at the end of the respective Counties:—and for the sake of comparison, other Towns, which have risen into importance since the disuse of granting Charters and Immunities, are placed with the rest, although these Towns are for every purpose included within some Hundred of the County. The most ready way therefore of finding the Population of a principal Town, is to refer to the Summary of its County, before searching for the Hundred in which it is locally situate, where however a proper reference will always be found. The METROPOLIS presents an unusual difficulty, as extending into Two Counties, and therefore has been necessarily inserted distinctly in an Appendix †. In the County Summaries the Total of entire Hundreds is usually to be found; in the Body of the County all recognized Sub-divisions of the Hundred are distinguished, each with its separate Total.

So far the arrangement of the ensuing Volume differs little from those of 1801 and 1811, nor indeed from the several Poors Rate Returns of 1776, 1786, and 1803; nor ought it to differ from established precedent, without good reason for so doing. But the very repetition of such enquiries has been found to render it absolutely necessary to enter more minutely into the relative connection and the identity of places than before. This necessity will best be understood by stating, that there are in England and Wales about 550 Parishes which are known to extend into Two Counties, or into more than One Hundred, or other Division; and that every one of these places creates a danger of Duplicate Entry. No person entrusted with the care of rendering complete the Population Returns, can fail to refer to all preceding Authorities; nor, doing so, can fail to apply for Returns to Parish Officers, who apparently, but not really, have made default: Nor can any effort of Memory prevent this; the orthography of the Names of Places being too little settled, and indeed many names identically the same occurring too often, to permit any certain recognition of the same place. The best method of avoiding these difficulties appeared to lie in a more careful attention to the Parochial connection of places; besides that for many purposes, particularly Ecclesiastical, the knowledge of the Population of a Parish is at least as useful as that of its constituent parts. The Instruction prefixed to the Questions of the Printed Schedule was intended to produce Information of this kind; which indeed had before been asked with some effect, as appears in the Poor Return Abstract of 1803; with the help of which and of the present Returns, it is hoped that a successful attempt has been made, to ascertain the Parochial connection of all places in Great Britain; so that no Parish should be named in the Enumeration Abstract without a Reference to all its constituent parts; and that no such part should be named without a Reference to its Parish; and this whether the whole Parish be in the same County, or otherwise disjoined in entry.

* Information has recently been requested from the several Clerks of the Peace, as to the number of places in England and Wales where Petty Sessions or Divisional Meetings are usually holden; they amount to 595; and the number of acting County Magistrates is 4,430; but many of these no doubt act under more than one Commission of the Peace, which must make the real number much less. (For particulars, see p. xxxiv.)

† Enum. Abstr. pp. 550, 551. Par. Reg. Abstr. pp. 157—160.

In this attempt some difficulty has occurred, which renders it necessary to enter into a brief Statement respecting the Parochial Division of the Kingdom; which may be deemed Ecclesiastical rather than Civil.

The Country Parishes of England (in the modern sense of the word Parish) seem originally to have been of the same extent and limits as the several Manors; nor could it well be otherwise, because when it became settled, during the Ninth and Tenth Centuries, that Tythe was generally due to the Church, every Lord of an independent Manor would of course appoint a Clergyman of his own choosing, in default of which the Tythe would have become due to the nearest Mother Church. Hence the Parochial Division of England appears to have been nearly the same as now established, in the Taxatio Ecclesiastica, which was compiled in the Reign of King Edward the First. (A. D. 1288—1292.

In the Towns indeed there is considerable variation, personal Tythes having been much more productive before the Reformation of Religion than afterwards, and consequently a greater number of Clergymen maintained in populous places. Thus the City of London (within and without the Walls, but not including the Borough of Southwark) which now reckons One Hundred and Eight Parishes, forming no more than Seventy-two Ecclesiastical Benefices, had at that time One Hundred and Forty; Norwich in like manner is reduced from Seventy Parishes to Thirty-seven, and other ancient Cities in proportion: a sufficient indication that the number of Parishes in Towns was formerly suffered to increase in proportion to the Population: and (besides that personal Tythes and Dues must always have been in a great degree voluntary,) it appears from the Taxatio Ecclesiastica, that the Profits accruing from one and the same Parish were not confined to one Spiritual Person, nor even to one Religious House or Community. Under such circumstances, it is not likely that Town-Parishes were anciently limited either in number or extent; but the conflicting Rights of Tythe-Owners, and the Perambulations ordained by The Canon Law, must have established the Boundaries of Country Parishes much earlier.

In later times the Boundary of every Parish has been settled with precision, and indeed rendered immutable by any authority short of a special legislative enactment. This exactness has been produced by the Laws for the Maintenance and Relief of the Poor, whose claims on a Parish being regulated by their legal Settlement in it, and the Assessment or Poor's Rate which takes place in consequence, being levied according to the property of the other Inhabitants, a double motive for ascertaining the Boundary of a Parish continually subsists, and has been frequently a subject of litigation since the Poor Laws became burdensome.

When this began to take place, the Parishes of the Northern Counties were found to be much too large for the due administration of the Poor Laws, which must always be founded upon a personal knowledge of the situation and character of every one applying for relief, and is therefore a subject to which no general rule can with propriety be applied. The inconvenience which was felt in the Northern Counties from this cause will be easily explained, by stating, that Thirty or Forty square Miles is there no unusual area of a Parish; and (generally speaking) Parishes in the North average at Seven or Eight times the area of those in the Southern Counties.

Hence in the 13th year of Charles II. (soon after his Restoration) a Law was passed, permitting Townships and Villages, though not entire Parishes, severally and distinctly to maintain their own Poor, assigning as a reason for this innovation, "That the Inhabitants of Lancashire, Cheshire, Derbyshire, Yorkshire, Northumberland, the Bishoprick of Durham, Cumberland, and Westmorland, and many other Counties of England and Wales, by reason of the largeness of the Parishes within the same, have not and cannot reap the benefit of the Act of Parliament (43^d ELIZ.) for the Relief of the Poor."

Under this Law the Townships of the North have become as distinctly limited in practice as if they were separate Parishes;* and of course make separate Returns, which in the Abstract of 1801 are placed alphabetically in their several Wards and Hundreds, but are now arranged under their respective Parishes; whereby the perplexity arising from a crowd of explanatory Notes has been avoided, and the convenience of those who have occasion to ascertain the Population of a whole Parish, is best consulted. This arrangement appeared in all the Counties North of the Humber and the Dee, and occasionally elsewhere, in

* Yet in some cases the above Law of Cha. II. has not been deemed to have effected its purpose finally, so that the Townships seem to remain always liable to separation and partition upon application to neighbouring Magistrates: an opinion by which private property is largely endangered, and a new source of Litigation opened. Might it not be judicious to prevent these evils by a declaratory Law, against alteration of the limit of any District, now maintaining the Poor separately?

in the Abstract of 1811, and is now extended throughout the Kingdom. The arrangement originated in Northumberland and Westmorland,* but in extending it to the Southern Counties, the place which gives name to the whole Parish is always called Parish, though it be only part of the Parish (the less important designation merging in the other); nor could this be avoided without departing from the customary manner of speaking. A proper Note of Reference will always be found to accompany the name of every Parish which occurs oftener than once, as not wholly contained in the same Hundred or other Division. Besides this immediate and indispensable purpose of the Notes, they will be found to embrace such other information as may tend to elucidate the arrangement and connection of places, or to obviate doubts which frequently arise where well-known places seem to have been omitted, being indeed included in the Return of their Parish. Many Notes are of a miscellaneous kind, extracted from the Returns themselves, whenever the information contained in them appeared to be useful, or explanatory of any remarkable increase or diminution of the Population.

In attempting an arrangement of the kind above described, comprehending the whole Kingdom, the Question, What is a Parish? has often occurred, and has been found not easily determinable. It has been asserted, that a Parochial Chapel is that which hath the privileges of administering the Sacraments (especially that of Baptism) and the Office of Burial. "For the liberties of Baptism and Sepulture are the true distinct Parochial Rights: and if any new Oratory had acquired and enjoyed this immunity, then it differed not from a Parish Church. And till the year 1300, in all trials of the Rights of particular Churches, if it could be proved that any Chapel had a custom for free Baptism and Burial, such place was adjudged to be a Parochial Church." But however true this may have been until the date of the Taxatio Ecclesiastica before mentioned,—in the present sense of the word Parish, it is evidently fallacious, inasmuch as almost every Chapel of Ease would thereby constitute a separate Parish: and in the various degrees of the dependence of Chapels on their Mother Churches (as some rule must be adhered to) it has been deemed safe to assume, that where the Curate is appointed and removable by the Incumbent of the Mother Church, and more certainly where Church-Rates still continue to be paid towards the Repair of such Church, the Chapelry is not Parochial. On the other hand, a perpetual Curacy has not been struck out of the List of Parishes merely because the Curate is appointed by the Incumbent of the Mother Church, his permanent Tenure (especially if the Curacy has been augmented under the Laws which direct the distribution of Queen Anne's Bounty†) seeming to alter the case materially. But this attempt at definition is rather meant to shew what has been aimed at, than what has been accomplished; it being impossible to ascertain minutely all such circumstances. Nevertheless, the doubtful cases are not many; and for any general purpose the number of Parishes and Parochial Chapelries in England and Wales may safely be taken at - - 10,693.

The Number of places in England and Wales of which the Population is distinctly stated in the present Abstract, is - - - - - 15,773.

The Number of Parishes in Scotland is 948; of Population Returns is - 1,046.

It has been found practicable in this Volume, without too much increasing the Notes, to state in one Total the number of Inhabitants in each Parish, when returned in Townships or Tythings; not without an especial view to the Ecclesiastical purposes of the Population Abstract, as regarding the Cure of Souls, and the degree of accommodation afforded in the several Parish Churches; the total number of persons in each Parish being every where shown in the Note referring to such Parish; or to the largest part of a Parish, when not entirely in the same County, Hundred, or other Division. In such cases, before the word Parish, the words (part of) are inserted.

To

* Mr. Davidson, Clerk of the Peace for the County of Northumberland, arranged the Townships of that County under their several Parishes, in 1777; and W. W. Carus Wilson, Esq. an active Magistrate in Westmorland, did the same for that County, in 1802;—in arranging the other Counties, when original information could not be procured, recourse was had to Mr. Carlisle's Topographical Dictionary, which experience proved to be worthy of confidence.

† The Act of 1° Geo. I. c. 10. § 4. is not positive on this point; for, after declaring "that all such Churches, Curacies, and Chapels, which shall be augmented by the Governors of the Bounty of Queen Anne, shall be from the time of such augmentations, Perpetual Cures and Benefices,"—in the next Section (§ 5.) it goes on to provide, "That no Rector or Vicar of the Mother Church having Cure of Souls within the Parish or Place where such augmented Church or Chapel shall be situate, shall thereby be divested or discharged from the same; but the Cure of Souls, with all other Parochial Rights and Duties, shall hereafter remain in the same state, plight, and manner, as before the making of this Act, and as if this Act had not been made."

To arrive at a settled Orthography of the Names of places would manifestly be for general convenience, and this object has not been slighted, the name which appeared on each Return not having been adopted without collation with the former Population Abstract of 1811, and occasionally with the several Poor Return Abstracts, whereby frequent errors have been corrected; but it is to be understood that this kind of correction has been applied only to the Enumeration Returns, not to those of the Clergymen; so that in the Parish-Register Abstract every name will be found exactly as it appeared to be spelled in the original Return.

Besides Parishes and their Tythings or Townships, there are many places not contained within the Limits of any Parish, and thence called Extra-Parochial; and from some of these, Returns of their Population are not easily procurable. They are found usually to have been the site of Religious Houses, or of ancient Castles, the owners of which did not permit any interference with their authority within their own Limits; and in rude times, the existence of such exemptions from the general Government of the Kingdom is not surprising. At present the case is widely different; and there seems to be no good reason for permitting Extra-Parochial places still to avoid sharing the burdens borne by the rest of the Community. Thus an Extra-Parochial place enjoys a virtual exemption from maintaining the Poor, because there is no Overseer on whom a Magistrate's Order may be served; from the Militia Laws, because there is no Constable to make Returns; from repairing the Highways, because there is no Surveyor; besides all which, the Inhabitants have a chance of escaping from direct taxation of every kind. For in the language of the antient law of England, such places were not 'Geldable nor Shireground, non sub districtione curiæ Vicecomitis;' and as the Sheriff was the Receiver General in his County till about the time of the Revolution, Extra-Parochial places were neither taxable nor within the ordinary pale of civil jurisdiction; and the Inhabitants are still virtually exempt from many civil duties and offices served not without inconvenience by others for the benefit of the community at large.

The number of such places is not inconsiderable, though difficult to be discovered; the present Volume exhibits above 200 of them; and the subject is the more worthy of attention, inasmuch as the acquisition of new Land, whether by reclaiming Forests, Drainage of Fens, or Embankment from the Sea, furnishes frequent occasion for endeavouring even now to establish Extra-Parochial Immunities.

The subject of complaint being an unreasonable exemption from certain general Laws, the remedy might be applied to that defect only; so that all places, where any person is found ready to act as Overseer of the Poor, Constable, and Surveyor of the Highways, might be permitted to remain as they are; but the Magistrates of each County might be empowered to annex all other Extra-Parochial places to adjoining Parishes for the purposes above described. Districts of larger extent may be found, which under the name of Liberties interrupt the general course of Law as affecting Hundreds, in like manner as Extra-Parochial places that of Parishes. In Dorsetshire, where this inconvenience chiefly prevails, the Grants of some of these Liberties are dated as late as the Reign of Henry VIII, and even of Elizabeth. The proper Remedy for the Inconveniences arising out of these improvident Grants, might be to subject them to abolition by the County Magistrates, whenever by default in the appointment of proper Officers, these Liberties (under whatever title) are found to obstruct the due administration of Justice or of the Laws.

Other deformities there are in the Territorial arrangement of England and Wales, which may be deemed the more worthy of attention, as of more easy remedy. Such have been already mentioned as causing Duplicate Returns, where Parishes extend into more Counties; or into more Hundreds than one. The number of places of the first class, in so far as they have been noted, is 134, scarcely any County not affording an instance, and some having Parishes intermixed with every surrounding County. The Parishes which extend into more Hundreds or Divisions than one, are much more numerous; and still more considerable is the number of those places which lie at a distance from their own County or Hundred, to the frequent inconvenience of the Inhabitants and of the Public. Indeed several of the Hundreds are so strangely scattered, that they might be advantageously merged in others, as from the conjoint name of some Hundreds seems formerly to have been done. Instances of the inconvenience here alluded to, and of the remedy, are most frequent in Wiltshire. Winkley Hundred in Somersetshire, Farrington Hundred in Berkshire, that of Barton-Stacey in Hampshire, and some others, are remarkable instances of irregularity still in existence. The consideration of all these Anomalies might be referred to the County Magistrates, who alone could accurately point them out, and who best know by experience how far such places are inconvenient to the Inhabitants, or to the

See the respective Notes.

Public at large. After reasonable time allowed for the investigation, a single Act of Parliament might be passed, authorizing and enforcing the several alterations pointed out by the Magistrates. The Land Tax Acts, which were annual in the last century, frequently make arrangements of this kind, applicable to the Assessment of the Land Tax, but not for other purposes.

THE ENUMERATION of the whole Population may be considered as complete, no place being known finally to have omitted making Return. In cases where the name of a place differs from the Abstract of 1811, or where two places are included under one title, all the former Names are preserved in a Note, and in cases where any place has been transferred from one Hundred to another, explanation is afforded in the same manner.

The proportion of the Sexes was as 100 Males to 110 Females of the Resident Population in the years 1801 and 1811; at present to only 106 Females, a difference which may obviously be ascribed to the cessation of War, and the consequently smaller number of Males in the Army and Navy.

In conclusion, it is proper to mention, that where the Total of any County, as laid before Parliament in February 1822, shall be found to differ from the Total in the present Volume, the latter is to be considered as the authentic Total, a few corrections on discovery of duplicate entries, of omissions, and of clerical errors, having been made on the final revision of the work. The only material error discovered in the Abstract of 1811, upon Collation with the present Abstract, occurs in the North Riding of the County of York, where from some clerical error in adding the Columns of the Liberty of Langbaourgh, an omission of 13,061 Persons took place, whence a diminution of Population between the Enumeration of 1801 and 1811 was ascribed to the North Riding, making it appear a singular and unaccountable exception from the general increase. The error is now rectified in the Comparative Table of Counties. [p. xxxii.]

Concerning the Enumeration Abstract, nothing more remains to be said, but that the Population of the Islands of Mann, of Jersey, of Guernsey, and its adjacent Isles, has been obtained for the first time, and is entered in the Appendix, p. 545.

AGES OF PERSONS.

Connected with the Enumeration of Persons, a new QUESTION concerning their Ages was added in the Year 1821; viz.

IF you are of opinion that in making the preceding Enquiries (or at any time before returning this Schedule) the Ages of the several Individuals can be obtained in a manner satisfactory to yourself, and not inconvenient to the Parties, be pleased to state (or cause to be stated) the Number of those who are under 5 years of age, of those between 5 and 10 years of age, between 10 and 15, between 15 and 20, between 20 and 30, between 30 and 40, between 40 and 50, between 50 and 60, between 60 and 70, between 70 and 80, between 80 and 90, between 90 and 100, distinguishing Males from Females?

IT will be perceived, from the tenor of this QUESTION, that the ANSWERS to it were purposely left optional, both as regarding the Returning Officer, and the Persons to whom the Question was to be proposed by him. Doubtless it was foreseen that no complete Return to such a question was to be expected; but it was also obvious that the Result sought, would be attained with sufficient degree of certainty, without endeavouring to enforce the enquiry upon the entire Population. In fact the Return of Ages embraces EIGHT-NINTHS of the Persons enumerated; a proportion which shews so much general goodwill in execution of the Population Act, that the less laborious task of mere enumeration, cannot but have been performed in a careful manner to that extent at least.

THE AGES OF PERSONS (as returned) appear at the end of each County, but do not and cannot afford means of Comparison, unless by a Calculation which supposes the same number of Persons to exist in every County. This has been accomplished as far as Six places of Figures, and appears in the annexed TABLE. For the sake of Compression, the two last places of Figures are omitted, unless where they are necessary for accuracy in the Columns which contain the more advanced stages of Human Life,

IN the application of the foregoing TABLES, some allowance ought to be made for the increasing duration of Life during the last hundred years; that is to say, persons of advanced age would be more numerous at present, (because fewer of them would have died) had the chances of life been as high during the last hundred years as they are now become. Something more on this subject will be found in a subsequent part of these Observations. [See p. xxvi.]

The number of Females, between the Ages of 20 and 30, exceeds the corresponding number of Males as stated in every County (except Monmouth); and the higher ages of Females probably partake of the same fallacy, so far as to induce Calculators to rely on the Table of Male Ages only. They may also be induced to attach an inferior degree of credit to the Ages of Males as well as Females in Scotland, where is wanting in a great degree the Record of Parish Registers, and very advanced Ages cannot but rest on repute rather than on knowledge and evidence.

II.

Parish Register Abstract.

THE Second object of the Population Act of 1801, was to ascertain the Increase or Diminution of the Population during the preceding Century, by means of the PARISH REGISTERS; to effect which object certain Questions were appointed to be answered by the officiating Minister of every Church and Chapel in England and Wales: and the Population Acts of 1811 and 1821 repeat the same Questions, each for the preceding Ten Years. The Population Act of 1801 extended this enquiry to Scotland also; but it appeared in the sequel, that few Registers are kept in that Country, only 99 Returns having been received; so that it was useless to repeat the Question as regarding Scotland, in the Acts of 1811 and 1821.

The Questions respecting Parish Registers, and Chapelry Registers, were as follow :

QUESTIONS

Addressed to the OFFICIATING MINISTERS in England, by whom a Return is to be made to the Bishop, on or before the 21st day of June 1821.

- 1st—WHAT was the Number of Baptisms and Burials in your Parish, Township, or Place, in the several Years 1811, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18, 19, and 20; distinguishing Males from Females?
- 2^d—WHAT has been the Number of Marriages in your Parish, Township, or Place, in the several Years 1811, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18, 19, and 20?
- 3^d—ARE there any Matters which you think it necessary to remark, in Explanation of your Answers to either of the preceding Questions? Especially whether any and what annual Average Number of Baptisms, Burials, and Marriages, may, in your opinion, take place in your Parish, without being entered in the Parish Register?

THE Clergy of England and Wales were enabled to answer the two first of these Questions, by having recourse to the PARISH REGISTERS, which have been established in England ever since the Reformation, and were further regulated by Law in the year 1812.

When it was enacted in the Reign of Henry VIII, that the Church of England should be no longer subject to the Pope, Thomas Cromwell was appointed the King's Vicegerent for Ecclesiastical Jurisdiction; and in that capacity issued certain Injunctions to the Clergy in the year 1538.

One of these Injunctions ordains, That every officiating Minister shall, for every Church, keep a Book, wherein he shall register every Marriage, Christening, and Burial; and the Injunction goes on to direct the manner and time of making the Entries in the Register-Book weekly; any neglect therein being made penal:—and in the first year of Edw. VI, (Anno 1547) all Episcopal authority was suspended for a time, while the ecclesiastical Visitors then appointed, went through the several Dioceses to enforce divers Injunctions, and among others that respecting Parish Registers.

This Injunction was again repeated in the beginning of the Reign of Elizabeth, who also appointed a Protestation to be made by the Clergy, in which among other things, they promised to keep the Register-Book in a proper manner.

The Canons of the Church of England, which are now in force, date their authority from the beginning of the Reign of James I, (Anno 1603). One of them prescribes very minutely in what manner Entries are to be made in the Parish Registers; herein reciting the Injunction of 1538, and ordering an attested Copy of the Register of each successive Year to be annually transmitted to the Bishop of the Diocese or his Chancellor, and to be preserved in the said Bishop's Registry

This Canon also contains a retrospective Clause, appointing that the ancient Registers, so far as they could be procured, but especially since the beginning of the Reign of Elizabeth, should be copied into a Parchment Book, to be provided by every Parish. This wise regulation appears to have been carried into full effect at the time; so that the ancient Parish Registers now extant, usually commence with that Queen's Reign, and some of them earlier, quite as far back as the Date of the original Injunction. That part of the Canon which directs the Register-Book to be kept in a Coffer in the Church, has not been enforced, as it was found by experience that the Book was liable to be damaged by the moisture prevalent in uninhabited Buildings, and also to be purloined with the other contents of the Church Coffer. The Register-Book was heretofore usually kept in custody of the Officiating Minister, at his own House, if resident on the Benefice, otherwise in that of the Parish Clerk; but the Act 52 Geo. III, c. 146, has made some alteration in this and other particulars.

This Law is intituled, "An Act for the better regulating and preserving Parish and "other Registers of Births, Baptisms, Marriages and Burials in England," but does not appear to fulfil its intention as to Births. It received the Royal Assent on the 28th July 1812, and enacts that the Registers of Parishes, and of Chapelrys (where the ceremonies of Baptism, Marriage and Burial are performed) shall be kept in Books of Parchment, or of good and durable paper, whereon shall be printed the Heads of Information required to be entered; also a printed number prefixed to each future entry, such entries to be divided by a printed line.

The King's Printer was charged to provide and transmit such Register Books as soon as conveniently might be after the passing of the Act, which was to take effect on the 1st January 1813: and with no small exertion on his part, the entire number of Register Books, upwards of 33,000, (three to each Parish and Chapelry) were printed, bound and transmitted, before that time, although no preparation could be hazarded before the Act received the Royal Assent, as it was very likely to stand over to a future Session.

The provisions of this Act are not such (generally speaking) as were likely to affect the Returns of Registers under the Population Act of 1821, excepting only that a very distinct mention of the Registry of Baptisms "whether Private or Public," has evidently added to the number of Registered Baptisms, (to an uncertain amount indeed) and in so far has been useful; but it precludes any inference which otherwise might be drawn from a comparison of the respective numbers of Registered Baptisms which took place before and since the end of the year 1812.

The Act proceeds to direct, that the Register Books shall be kept in a dry well-painted iron chest, to be kept at the residence of the officiating Minister, or in the Parish Church or Chapel; also that Copies on Parchment of all Registers shall be sent annually to the Registrar of each Diocese; enforcing in this respect the before mentioned Canon, with particular directions as to the form and manner of transmissal, and subsequent arrangement of these Copies by the Registrar; but this last intention cannot be accomplished until proper Buildings or Receptacles in each Diocese, and a fund for payment of the persons employed in such arrangement, shall have been provided.

The Act extends to Cathedrals, and to Churches and Chapels of all sorts, though not Parochial; and this has somewhat augmented the number of Returns received under the Population Act, although it has added very little to the number of Baptisms or of Burials returned.

At the close of the Act of 1812, it is specially provided, That nothing therein contained shall extend to repeal any provision of the Marriage Act; of which it will be necessary to say something in the proper place; the strictness of its provisions as to the Registry of all Marriages, having furnished excellent and most useful Returns under the successive Population Acts.

THE Number of Returns of Parish Registers and Chapelry Registers received from England and Wales in the year 1801, (including a Supplementary Return) was supposed to be 11,065, which was not far from the number really due; but from the circumstances of a new inquiry, some of these were redundant, some were duplicate, and in many instances (on the contrary) no Return was made.

The discovery of a large degree of inaccuracy in the Supplement of 1801, arising from Duplicates, and a certain knowledge that the Parish Register Abstract of that year had necessarily necessarily been formed with a degree of expedition not permitting sufficient investigation, was a cogent reason for proceeding more cautiously on the next occasion; and this was the more necessary, as the Return of 1811 was to be compared with that of 1801, which standing alone, and being intended merely to show the Increase or Diminution of the Population during the last Century, was not much less effectual for its own particular purpose, although a considerable proportion of the Parish Register Returns were not brought to account; the result of a comparison of the several years with each other, not being much affected by it. This consideration, though a sufficient excuse for attending to expedition rather than to the completion of the Returns of 1801, was no longer valid in 1811; and particular care was then taken accordingly, both by marking the name of every supposed Benefice and Curacy on a set of County Maps, and checking the Returns by that criterion, as well as by all other authorities which could be obtained; this was a laborious task, and gave rise to above Two Thousand Applications to officiating Clergymen and others, and to a large correspondence, which however produced 857 additional Returns, and left no room to doubt but that sufficient knowledge was thus procured to insure a complete Return on any future occasion.

It is obviously needless in the year 1822, to detail the process by which the Returns of 1801 and 1811 were connected for the purpose of comparison; on a balance of the redundant and the deficient, the Baptisms were deemed to be deficient as One to Thirty-two; the Burials as One to Twenty-nine; the Marriages as One to Fifty; and additions were made accordingly, to which it is sufficient to refer without repeating a page of figures and calculations, which was very necessary in the Preliminary Observations of 1811. The number of Baptisms, Burials, and Marriages, in the last Twenty years (1801-1820) is here subjoined, as not liable to imputation of uncertainty, such as has been above explained.

The Number of Returns of Parish Registers and Chapelry Registers collected under the Population Act of 1811 was 11,159; under the Act of 1821, the Number is increased to 11,342, from a cause which has been already stated, but which does not materially affect the comparison of the two Abstracts.

Further

Further it may be proper to remark, that the Number of Benefices in England and Wales is by no means equal to the Number of Parishes; because in many instances Two or more Parishes are permanently united as one Benefice; and in the Diocese of Norwich, which includes Norfolk and Suffolk, the Diocesan has the privilege of granting a personal Union of Parishes, on account of the small extent and value of many Benefices in those Counties.

The PARISH-REGISTER ABSTRACT has been framed with special Reference to the SUMMARY of each County in the ENUMERATION ABSTRACT; so that every Total of Persons which there appears, may be compared with a corresponding Annual Total of Baptisms, Burials, and Marriages; and an Annual Average of these for each entire County, may be obtained by the easy process of dividing the Total (which appears under each County Summary) by Ten;—and further to facilitate general Calculations, the Annual proportion of the Baptisms, Burials, and Marriages, to the Population of each County, is also given at the end of these Observations.

Every place which has made Return of a Register, is distinguished in the Parish-Register Abstract, as Rectory (R.) Vicarage (V.) Parochial Chapelry (P. C.) Chapelry or Curacy (C.)

As the Marriage Register may be deemed correct; next to it, the Register of Burials; and lastly, the Register of Baptisms, it will be found most convenient to treat of each distinctly, and in that order.

CONCERNING THE REGISTRY OF MARRIAGES.

MANY Inconveniencies having arisen from the undue Solemnization and Registry of Marriages, an Act was passed in the 26^o Geo. II, “for the better preventing of Clandestine Marriages,” which directs a certain Formula for the Registry of Marriages, to be attested and signed by the Minister officiating, the Persons married, and two or more Witnesses; and declares any Erasure or Mutilation of the Marriage Register, or any False Entry therein, to be Felony without Benefit of Clergy; nor can a Marriage be legally solemnized in any Chapel consecrated, since this Law was made. A retrospective Relaxation of the Act in this particular case took place in 1781, under an Act by which Marriages already solemnized in such Chapels, were declared to be valid; but the Registers of such Marriages were ordered to be forthwith removed to the Parish Church.

1 Geo. III.
c. 53.

Some few Persons are known to evade the provisions of the Marriage Act, by a Marriage in Scotland; but the Registry of Marriages in England is not much affected thereby, because the Parents or friends of the Female who has been thus irregularly married, usually cause such Marriages to be afterwards solemnized according to the Law of England.

The Marriages of Dissenters of every denomination take place in the Established Church; but not those among Quakers, who are permitted to internarry in their own Congregation. To these may be added the Jews, who marry according to their own peculiar Ceremonial; but neither of these religious Sects are numerous; so that the Returns made, pursuant to the Population Act, ought to comprehend almost the total Number of actual Marriages; and the above causes of a small deficiency are not (all of them) likely to be removed.

A great variation in the annual Number of Marriages is caused by the circumstances of the times, and especially by the price of provisions; the difference arising from this cause is such, that no safe inference concerning the Increase or Diminution of Population can be drawn from the comparison of any single Years with each other: But the average Amount of the Marriages for five years together, or for a longer period, is the best evidence on the subject, because the Register of Marriages may be deemed perfectly correct.

As it is intended, throughout the present Observations, to give the most important Results of the Acts of 1801 and 1811, as well as of 1821, the following TABLE not only shows shows the Number of Marriages in each Year since 1754, but also the average Amount of Marriages for every Five, and for every Ten Years since the Marriage Act has been fully in force. It will appear in the sequel of these Remarks, that Results drawn from this Table would be very similar to the Results drawn from the Registered Baptisms.

In the YEAR 1755 the number of MARRIAGES (adding a Supplementary Fiftieth part, for deficiency of Returns under the Act of 1801,*) was 49,379;

For the Marriages in each year from 1800 to 1820 inclusive, see p. xxiii.

The Annual proportion of Marriages to the Population is as one to 134 in England and Wales, the several Counties ranging from one in 106 to one in 179; [See p. xxxiii.] the extremes take place in Middlesex and in Hertfordshire, the custom of surreptitiously marrying in the Metropolis increasing the number of Marriages therein, at the expence of the adjacent Counties.

CONCERNING THE REGISTRY OF BURIALS.

THE Registry of Burials may be supposed to be deficient, on the following considerations :

1. Many Congregations of Dissenters, inhabiting Towns, have their own peculiar Burying-grounds ; as have the Jews, and the Roman Catholics, who reside in London.

2. Some Persons from motives of poverty or convenience, inter their Dead without any religious ceremony. But in estimating the deficiency from this cause, it should be considered that a place must be very populous before the establishment of cheap Burial-grounds can become a profitable speculation. Such there are in the Metropolis, in Bristol, and in Newcastle-upon-Tyne. But the Number of Interments within the London Bills of Mortality is not wholly unknown†; and of the Interments at the Ballast-Hills near Newcastle-upon-Tyne, a Register or Account is kept, of which a Return was received, and entered.

3. Children who die before Baptism are interred without any religious ceremony, and consequently are not registered.

4. Negligence

* This fact was ascertained very carefully in 1812, as is detailed in the Preliminary Observations to the Abstract of 1811 (p. xix.)

† See Par. Reg. Abstr. p. 200.

4. Negligence may be supposed to cause some omissions in the Registers, especially in those of small Benefices, where the Officiating Minister is not resident.

5. Many Persons employed in the Army, and in Navigation, die Abroad; and consequently their Burials remain unregistered.

The Annual Number of Burials, as collected in pursuance of the Three Population Acts, authorizes a satisfactory inference of diminishing Mortality in England; the average Number of Burials not differing materially from the Year 1780 to the Year 1800; the first Five Years of that period, the last Five Years, and the whole period, giving the same average result; not but that the effect of the Deaths by which England was afflicted in 1795 and 1800, is very perceptible in the increased mortality of those years. Many other, and no doubt very various considerations would occur to every Investigator of such a subject; especially the doubt as to how many years of the Burial Register ought to be applied as a Divisor to existing Population. If, for instance, the average Number of Registered Burials in the preceding Ten Years, is applied to the Number of persons resident in England and Wales in the Year 1821, the Annual Mortality very little exceeds one in Sixty; but if the Registered Burials of the Year 1820 are applied in like manner, the result is a mortality of one in Fifty-seven or Fifty-eight, which last proportion (Burials not brought into the account considered) is perhaps nearest to the truth.

The same calculations, founded on the numerical results of the Population Act of 1811, shew a Mortality of one in Fifty-two, and one in Fifty respectively. The rate of Mortality in the Year 1801 has heretofore been taken at one in Forty-seven; in 1790, at one in Forty-five; in 1780 at one in *Forty: so that on the whole the annual Mortality seems to have decreased from one in Forty, to one in Fifty-eight (nearly one-third) in Forty Years.

* See Prelim. Observ. 1811. p. xxii.

The causes of increase in the duration of human life (hereby indicated) will no doubt be investigated by those who are able to elucidate the subject;—houses less crowded, better food, better clothing, and more cleanliness among the numerous classes of Society, cannot have been without some effect; and to these may be added the increased extent of drainage, which may have acted beneficially on the health of the Agricultural Population.

The improved treatment of Diseases is stated in many of the Returns, as a cause of increasing Population, and especially the substitution of Vaccination for the Small Pox;—infectious Fevers have almost disappeared, even in the Metropolis; and Intermittents, which till lately under the name of Ague, infested the Country very extensively (especially the Fen Districts) are no longer spoken of. So in former times, the Plague (as it was called) disappeared as soon as the City of London had been rebuilt after the great Fire of 1666; so the Land-Scurvy, and before that the Leprosy, became gradually extinct when the Reformation of Religion, and improvements in Agriculture, had removed the necessity of eating Salt-fish and Salted Meat during the greater portion of the year.

The Mortality in the several Counties of England ranges between one in 47, and one in 72; Middlesex and Sussex being the extremes. In Anglesey, the Mortality is stated at one in 83.

CONCERNING THE REGISTRY OF BAPTISMS.

THE Registry of Baptisms is deficient from the same causes as that of Burials, and from most of those causes in a greater degree.

1. Many Dissenters of every denomination (those especially who reside at a distance from any other Burial-place) from motives of decency or convenience bury their dead in the Cemeteries of the Established Church, though they baptize after their own manner, or not at all. The Question respecting Unentered Baptisms and Burials showed a difference of nearly Four to One in the degree of Deficiency in the year 1811, the Annual Average Number of Unentered Baptisms (as stated at the end of the several Counties) having been 14,860; of Burials (setting aside London) 3,899; at present the proportion is Five to One in the degree of deficiency, the Annual Average Number of Unentered Baptisms (as stated at the end of the several Counties), being 23,066; of Burials, setting aside London, 4,657. Nor does this represent the full amount or proportion of Unentered Baptisms, the Clergy of the most populous places, especially where many of the Inhabitants Inhabitants are Dissenters, usually declining to hazard an Estimate. A Burial Ground on the contrary is a visible object, and among the persons connected with it, the Clergyman can usually procure an Account (more or less accurate) of the Number of Interments.

2. Some irreligious Persons, especially in large Towns, neglect the Rite of Baptism altogether.

3. Some Children die immediately after Birth, unbaptized; these however not being registered among the Burials, the Comparison is not affected from this cause. The great defect in Baptismal Registers heretofore arose from Private Baptism, which is carried to an extent not at all in the contemplation of the Founders of the Church of England; for the Canon ordaining Registers applies to Christenings, without further explanation; and this word is usually understood to mean Publick Baptism only. The practice of the Clergy is not uniform on this point; and it appears from the Remarks subjoined to some of the Parish-Register Returns of 1811, that the Registry of Private Baptisms was refused in many places, from a conscientious desire thereby to induce persons to cause their Children to be publicly received into the Congregation: but the Parish Register Act of 1812 no longer leaves this optional, and the effect of it has been such, that Registered Baptisms, which heretofore were 147 to 100 as compared to the Burials, are increased since the year 1811, so as to exceed the Burials in the proportion of 162 to 100.

4. Negligence may be supposed to cause the same proportion of Omissions in the Registry of Baptisms as in that of Burials.

The whole Number of Baptisms collected for the purposes of the Population Acts of 1801, 1811, and 1821, appears to be 12,570,083: of these, 6,418,422 Males; 6,151,661 Females: So that the Baptisms of Males are 10,433 to 10,000 Females.—The whole Number of Burials appears to be 9,126,031: of these, 4,568,828 Males, 4,557,213 Females; a remarkable equality in so large a number; whence it may be inferred, that the larger proportion of Males born ($4\frac{1}{2}$ per cent.) is also the proportion dying Abroad in the employments of War and Commerce.

The proportion of Baptisms to the Population is as one to 35 in England and Wales; the several Counties of England range between one in 31, and one in 47; Kent and Monmouth being the extremes. In Brecon the proportion is stated at one in 53.

III.

Increase of the Population.

FROM the Registers of BAPTISMS, BURIALS, and MARRIAGES, as collected in 1801, an Estimate of the Increase of the POPULATION of Great Britain throughout the last Century was then to be attempted; and so far as the Marriage Register of England and Wales extends, there was no danger in depending on it for that purpose: but from the many alleged causes of deficiency in the Registry of Burials and Baptisms, it may be urged, that no safe deduction can be made therefrom.

It cannot be denied that the Mortality, and consequently the number of Burials, in any insulated year, is an irregular criterion of Population. The Registered Burials from the year 1780 prove this abundantly. And as the Number of Baptisms is much more steady, and in a great degree dependent on the Number of Marriages, recourse has been had to the Baptismal Register in calculating the Population for the early part of the last Century, of which only every Tenth year appears in the Abstract of 1801.

The Objection usually urged against the authority of any Collection of the Parish Registers of Baptisms is, that Registers were in former periods more defective from negligence, than they have been in the Years nearer to the present time.

As no particular Date can be assigned when the improvement happened, it must be supposed to be progressive quite to the present time: and as the manner of registering Marriages according to the Act which took place in 1754, admits of no suspicion of deficiency in that Register, it would thence follow, that the Registered Baptisms must exhibit an increasing proportion to the Marriages quite to the present time. If this be not the case, the objection drawn from the supposed progressive improvement in the Registry, cannot be applicable since the date of the Marriage Act (1754). It is therefore fit to ascertain ascertain this proportion at as many periods as the collection of Registers affords an opportunity of so doing; and herein it is reasonable to assume, that the Marriages of any current year, and of the Four preceding years, must chiefly influence the Number of Baptisms in it.

see p. xiv.

The medium Average of Marriages in 1760 and the Four years preceding it (as collected in 1801, and now corrected) may be taken at 52,666; the Registered Baptisms of the same year 1760 appear to have been 192,900; therefore the Registered Baptisms were at that time as 366 to 100 Marriages.

In this Manner the following TABLE of PROPORTIONS has been formed:

				BAPTISMS.					MARRIAGES.
1760	-	-	-	366	-	-	to	-	100
1770	-	-	-	361	-	-	to	-	100
1780	-	-	-	356	-	-	to	-	100
1785	-	-	-	366	-	-	to	-	100
1790	-	-	-	359	-	-	to	-	100
1795	-	-	-	353	-	-	to	-	100
1800	-	-	-	340	-	-	to	-	100
1805	-	-	-	350	-	-	to	-	100
1810	-	-	-	360	-	-	to	-	100
1820	-	-	-	369	-	-	to	-	100

It appears hence that the Proportion of Registered Baptisms to Marriages continued much the same to the year 1810;* the extremes of the fluctuation differing only a Fourteenth part, and that difference tending to prove not that the Registers are more accurate, but rather less accurate now than formerly. So that from the year 1755, the amount of Registered Baptisms will give very nearly the same results as that of Marriages, in any calculation of the Increase of Population in the last Half of the Eighteenth Century.

Of the earlier part of that Century, the want of an accurate Marriage Registry renders it impossible to speak so confidently; as far as analogy is of weight, a similarity with the later period may be supposed; and in the Abstract of 1801, appears a further reason for believing that the correctness of the Registers has not been unequal throughout the last Century: for in the first years which appear in the Abstract of 1801, the amount of Registered Baptisms stands thus: In 1700, 152,000; in 1710, 139,000; in 1720, 155,000; and this fluctuation is different from what must have happened if the deficiencies of Registry were greater the further we go back in the examination.

It is true indeed, that in the years 1709 and 1710, England was afflicted by a dearth, which must have lowered the proportion of Births in 1710 as happened in 1795 and 1800; the scarcity which prevailed in 1710, causing the average price of Wheat to rise to 62 shillings per quarter; whereas the average price of the Ten preceding years was only 30 shillings per quarter. The scarcity of 1800 caused the average price of Wheat to rise to 110 shillings per quarter; whereas the average price of the Ten preceding years was no more than 54 shillings per quarter. Therefore the severity of the dearths of 1710 and of 1800 may be assumed to have been equal, and the effect of both in diminishing the Births and Baptisms to have been also equal. In the year 1800, the Baptisms were 255,000, though the Five years average is 264,000. By applying a proportional Increase to the Baptisms of 1710, the Number from whence the Population of 1710 is to be deduced, becomes 146,000 instead of 139,000. If the latter Number were used, the Population of 1710 would appear to have been no more than 5,003,000 in the ensuing TABLE.

Having

* The increased proportion of Baptisms in 1820 arises from the Parish Register Act of 1812, under which Private Baptisms are more frequently registered than heretofore.

Having premised these Remarks in order to establish the authority of the Register of Baptisms for forming an Estimate of the Increase or Diminution of the Population during the last Century, it is necessary in the next place to determine at what Number to take the existing Population of 1801.—The Enumeration of that Year amounts to 8,872,980 Persons for England and Wales; and to this Number an appropriate share of the Soldiers and Mariners is to be added. These appear to have been 470,598; and supposing Two-thirds of them in 1801 to have been Natives of England and Wales, about a Thirtieth part may be added to the then Resident Population.

Therefore the existing Population of England and Wales in 1801, is taken at 9,168,000 in the following TABLE; and the Population therein attributed to the other years is obtained by the Rule of Proportion.

Thus: If 263,409 Baptisms (the average Medium of the Five Years 1797—1800) were produced from a Population of 9,168,000; from what Population were 157,307 (the Baptisms of 1700) produced?

TABLE OF POPULATION THROUGHOUT THE LAST CENTURY.

ENGLAND AND WALES.
IN THE YEAR	POPULATION.	IN THE YEAR	POPULATION.
1700 - -	5,475,000	1760 - -	6,736,000
1710 - -	5,240,000	1770 - -	7,428,000
1720 - -	5,565,000	1780 - -	7,953,000
1730 - -	5,796,000	1790 - -	8,675,000
1740 - -	6,064,000	1801 - -	9,168,000
1750 - -	6,467,000

Hereby it may be seen, that although the beginning of the Eighteenth Century exhibits a decreasing Population, the lost Number had been regained in 1720; since which time a continual though irregular Increase appears. For the year 1790, the average Medium of the Baptisms of each year with the four preceding years is taken. The Baptisms of every year previous to 1780 were not called for by the Act of 1801.

It was supposed, that when the Enumeration Returns of 1811 were collected and arranged, a considerable Deficiency in those of 1801 would become manifest; but this did not happen, the seeming Deficiencies of 1801 so constantly disappearing upon enquiry and explanation, as to leave scarcely Twenty places additional in 1811, and those among the smallest of the 15,741 which made separate Returns. The variation from this number in the present Abstract, (which contains 15,773 Enumeration Returns) entirely arises from the conjunction or division of parts of the same Parish, at the option of the Overseer, or of the other persons employed in the Enumeration, and of course does not indicate any real defect or redundancy, nor affect the Total Return of any Parish, nor of the Abstract generally.

It has been reasonably supposed, that the first Enumeration of the People in Great Britain, especially as it took place in time of War, was rendered somewhat defective from backwardness or evasion in making the Answers required, inasmuch as direct taxation, and more obviously the levy of men in every place, might possibly be founded on the results of such an investigation. But as no such effect was perceived to take place, the Returns of the year 1811 were in all probability more full and accurate than those of 1801; and the War having now ceased, there remains no reason to suspect the least deficiency in the Return of 1821. Indeed, the voluntary Return of the Ages of Persons, an enquiry of far more labour than that of the enumeration of Houses, Families and Persons, proves, by the extent of the Answers, that the Population Act has been carried into effect in the year 1821, not merely with willingness, but even with zeal, throughout the greatest part of the Kingdom.

How far the Increase of 14 per Cent. in the period between the Enumerations of 1801 and 1811, and of nearly 16 per Cent. in the period from 1811 to 1821, (as computed on the Female Population only) may have been produced from such causes, cannot be discovered; but that the effect was not very different in the two respective periods, may be reasonably inferred by shortly advertg to the Parish Register Abstract.

It may be stated, that the Increase of the Population of Great Britain from 1801 to 1811, was 1,654,000, according to the respective Enumeration Returns; and of this Increase, 1,277,000 in England and Wales:—the Registered Baptisms are 2,878,906; the Registered Burials 1,950,189; showing an Increase of 928,717: so that, even allowing the Deficiency of the Baptismal Register not to be greater than of the Burial Register, more than Two-thirds of the Increase is established upon incontrovertible grounds. Again, in the period between the Enumerations of 1811 and 1821, the Increase of Population in England and Wales appears to have been 1,828,000; while a comparison of Registered Baptisms and Burials gives an apparent Increase of 1,245,000, or rather more than Two-thirds of the actual Increase. This similarity of result seems to prove, that the Enumeration of 1801 was no more defective, as compared with that of 1811, than the Enumeration of 1811 is to that of 1821. The annual excess of Unentered Baptisms over Unentered Burials is estimated at 13,561, in answer to the third question put to every officiating minister; but three times this number, after making every allowance, would scarcely reconcile the Parish Register Abstract with the actual Increase, as resulting from the three successive Enumeration Abstracts. But that the Register of Baptisms is much more deficient than that of Burials has already been shown, although it does not seem possible to ascertain (by direct evidence) in what degree one Deficiency exceeds the other.

The proximate causes of the Increase of Population in Great Britain, are obviously the diminished Rate of Mortality, and the increasing Number of Children born; the first of these causes has been already adverted to, and the Remarks on the Schedules, in answer to the 6th Question, assign many local causes of Increased Population, and are briefly inserted in the Notes whenever any remarkable Increase appears really to have taken place. The instances of Diminished Population are very few, and almost always noticed.

The Remarks which state the Increase of Population to have resulted from the operation of the Poor Laws, are too frequent for distinct insertion; they suppose persons to marry with a direct view of thereby obtaining a weekly allowance, or at least in reliance on that kind of resource in time of need; nor can it be denied, but that such an effect seems very naturally to follow from the compulsory nature of the Relief afforded to the Poor in England; and it is quite certain, that whenever employment is scarce, the married man will have a preference, lest he should be constrained to apply to the Overseer for gratuitous aid.

But there is reason to suspect that the Poor Laws are much less conducive to an Increase of Population than they are usually stated to be in argument, and in the Remarks on the Population Schedules; because it must be recollected, that although in Scotland there is no Poor's Rate, the ratio of Increase since 1811 is nearly 16 per cent. upon the Resident Population; while in England it is no more than 18 per cent. (as computed upon the Resident Population of both Countries;) a small difference, and such as probably would be expected, had Poor Rates equally, or not at all, existed in both Countries.

A class of Remarks more frequent in Scotland than in England, goes some length in accounting for the Increase of the Agricultural Population; not immediately from the prosperity of Agriculture during the first Twelve or Thirteen years of the present Century, but consequently, from the disuse of Farm-house Servants (Male Servants especially) when the Master began to live in a very superior manner to his domestics, and the Mistress to dislike the trouble of providing for them. The dismissed Labourer in such cases could not but become a Cottager, and in his new situation could scarcely fail to become a Married Man.

The Manufacturing Population is naturally on the Increase; not only as every short period of prosperity and increased wages produces imprudent Marriages, but also because in many Manufactures, Children are able to maintain themselves at an early age, and so to entail little expense on their Parents, to the obvious encouragement of marriage.

But this is not a proper place for going deeply into the causes of increasing Population; which may be deemed a solid good, or a dreadful evil, according to the circumstances of the country in which it occurs. If a commensurate increase of Food and of Raiment can be produced by Agriculture and by Manufacture, an accession of Consumers in the home market cannot but be beneficial to all parties; and the Increase of Population in such case may be deemed equally desirable in itself, and conducive to National strength and National prosperity.

From the Collection of Parish Registers it is not difficult to compute the Increase or Diminution of the Population of the several Counties of England and Wales during the last Century; from the Year 1801, the Enumerations furnish a much more authentic comparison, which also includes Scotland.

To the Columns in the succeeding pages which exhibit these Comparative Statements, Seven other Columns have been annexed, partly founded on a combination of the Abstracts of ENUMERATION and of PARISH REGISTERS contained in this Volume; partly exhibiting other particulars, deemed to be not irrelevant or useless in furtherance of such investigations as usually cause reference to be made to the POPULATION ABSTRACT, and to these PRELIMINARY OBSERVATIONS arising from it.

REMARKS.

Col. 4 & 5.—THE Population of Great Britain in the year 1811, as here ascribed to the several Counties, is less by 243,000 than in the Table (page viii) not more than Two thirds of the Army, Navy, &c. at that time being supposed to be Natives of Great Britain; the other third part of the Army and Navy being attributed to Ireland and Foreign Countries, and a majority of the Seamen who then navigated Registered Vessels. On these considerations no more than a Thirtieth part was added to the Resident Population of each County for its share of the Army, Navy, &c. and the same proportion is continued backward in the preceding Columns, 1, 2, & 3.—But to the Resident Population of Great Britain in the year 1821, no more than a Fiftieth part is added, the Army and Navy having decreased since 1811. This tends to lessen the per Centage increase ascribed to the several Counties, between the years 1811 and 1821.

Col. 6.—The Area of the several Counties of England and Wales, in Square Statute Miles, is here given as measured upon Arrowsmith's large Map (date 1815-16) which being founded on the Trigonometrical Survey, is little liable to future alteration; and the measurement of it having been accomplished by means of an actual Division of the Surface into Square Miles, scarcely admits of error as to the Area of England and Wales; nor would the Area of each County be less accurate supposing its its detached parts to be all known. Of such irregularities, Fifty-three have been taken into account in these Calculations, and those which remain undiscovered, are presumed to be of considerable dimensions, though perhaps not few in number. Most of the detached parts are assessed in the County wherein they are locally situate. To convert the English Square Mile into a Measure applicable to the Maps of all Civilized Nations (for the purposes of comparison) it is only necessary to reckon it as Three-fourths of the Area of the Square Geographical Mile; in other words, that Four English Square Miles are equal to Three Geographical. This proportion may be deemed exact; for supposing a Degree of Latitude (between 51° and 52°) to measure 60,364 Fathoms (on the authority of General Mudge) the Area of an English Square Mile to the Geographical Square Mile is as 300 to 398. 6.

The English Square Mile contains 640 Statute Acres.

Scotland (with its Islands) is about equal to Ireland in Area, and is half as large as England and Wales; but in computing the Area of Scotland in English Square Miles, it is right to mention that the Scottish Mile is 5,952 English Feet, or (compared with the English Mile) as 9 to 8.—But it is rapidly falling into disuse.

and Wales are no more than 10,458 in number, 139 Parishes being annexed to others as far as concerns the Offices of the Church, and 96 Parishes having no Church whatever, or none fit for Divine Service.

Col. 10.—The Number of Places which separately and distinctly levy a Rate to maintain their own Poor is 14,640, according to the Poor Return Abstract of 1815: the larger number of Returns under the Population Act, arises from Extra-Parochial places, and Returns of Constabularies instead of Townships, in some of the Northern Counties.

Col. 11.—This Column includes the Returns received from 889 Chapelries.

Col. 12.—The Unentered Baptisms, Burials, and Marriages, mentioned in the Parish Register Abstract at the end of the several Counties, are included in these Computations.

THE Total Number of Persons in the county of Bedford being . . . 83,716, . . . and the Number of Persons whose ages are returned (as above) being . . . 83,697, . . . it thence appears, that the ages of almost all the persons therein enumerated have been obtained in compliance with the question to that effect.

The Total Number of Enumeration Returns received from the county of Bedford, was 147, every one of which contained an answer to the question concerning the Ages of Persons. A small proportion of the Returns of Ages were somewhat deficient or redundant, or incorrect in the respective numbers of Males and Females.

(m) No Return appears to have been received from Greenham Chapelry in the year 1811; it was then supposed to be included in the Return of the rest of Thatcham Parish (Reading Hundred).—

(n) The Parish of Welford extends into Kintbury-Eagle Hundred; but the entire Parish is included in this Return.—

(o) The Parish of Great-Barrington is mostly in Slaughter Hundred (Gloucestershire) and there entered.—

(p) It is remarked, on the Schedule returned from Great Farringdon, that the Poor Laws tend to the increase of Population. The Tything of Hospital, heretofore returned in Farringdon Hundred, is now included with Wadley, in Shrivernham Hundred. The entire Parish of Farringdon contains 2,781 Inhabitants.—

(q) Inglesham Parish is mostly in Highworth Hundred (Wilts) and there entered.—

(r) Langford Parish is locally situate in Oxfordshire. The entire Parish contains

638 Inhabitants.—

(s) Shilton Parish is partly in Bampton Hundred (Oxfordshire), but the entire Parish is included in this Return.—

(t) Longworth Parish is partly in Oak Hundred. The entire Parish contains 974 Inhabitants.—

(u) Stanford-in-the-Vale Parish, is partly in Oak Hundred. The entire Parish contains 931 Inhabitants.—

(v) The Borough of Abingdon is entered at the end of the County.—

(w) The Parish of Grampound is included in the Return of St. Aldates (City of Oxford).—

(x) The Parish of St. Helen's contains the chief part of the Borough of Abingdon, which is entered at the end of the County. Barton and Pumney are detached farms, not attributable to any particular Township.—

(y) The entire Parish of Radley contains about 500 Inhabitants, part of the Township of Kennington being in the Parish of Sunningwell.

THE Total Number of Persons in the County of Berks being . . . 131,977, . . . and the Number of Persons whose ages were returned, being . . . 123,873, . . . it thence appears, that the ages of upwards of one-sixteenth part of the persons therein enumerated, have not been obtained in compliance with the question to that effect.

The Total Number of Enumeration Returns received from the County of Berks was 230, nine of which contained no answer to the question concerning the ages of persons, and are thus marked (—): and a small proportion of the Returns of Ages were somewhat deficient, or redundant, —or incorrect in the respective numbers of Males and Females.

County of Bucks.

(+) It is remarked in the Return of the Parish of Hughenden, that "the Increase of Population must be attributed especially to the early and improvident Marriages which the Poor-Laws so openly encourage." The most industrious Labourers earn no more for their Families than "a bare subsistence, and the most idle and wasteful are secure of that." Brands-flee is partly in this Parish. (Seeylesbury Hundred.) (-) The Parish of Ipstone extends into Pirton Hundred (Oxfordshire), but the whole is here entered. (n) The entire Parish of High-Wycombe contains 5,599 Inhabitants. THE Total Number of Persons in the County of Buckingham being . . . 134,068, . . . and the Number of Persons whose ages are returned (as above) being . . . 131,754, . . . it thence appears, that the ages of one fifty-eighth part of the Persons therein enumerated have not been obtained in compliance with the question to that effect.

The Total Number of Enumeration Returns received from the County of Buckingham was 240, four of which did not contain any answer whatever to the question concerning the Ages of persons, and are thus marked (-): and a small proportion of the Returns of Ages were somewhat deficient, or redundant,—or incorrect in the respective numbers of Males and Females.

THE Total Number of Persons in the County of Cambridge being 121,909, and the Number of Persons whose ages were returned, being 110,559, it thence appears that the ages of one-eleventh part of the Persons therein enumerated, have not been obtained in compliance with the question to that effect.

The Total Number of Enumeration Returns received from the County of Cambridge (including the Isle of Ely) was 176, seven of which did not contain any answer whatever to the question concerning the Ages of persons, and are thus marked (→); and a small proportion of the Returns of Ages were somewhat deficient, or redundant,—or incorrect in the respective numbers of Males and Females.

THE Total Number of Persons in the County of Cornwall being 257,447. . . . and the Number of Persons whose Ages are returned (as above) being 243,703, it thence appears, that the Ages of one-nineteenth part of the Persons therein enumerated have not been obtained in compliance with the question to that effect.

The Total Number of Returns received from the County of Cornwall was 218, four of which did not contain any answer whatever to the question concerning the Ages of persons, and are marked thus (+); and a small proportion of the Returns of Ages were somewhat deficient, or redundant,—or incorrect in the respective numbers of Males and Females. The Ages of Persons in St. Thomas-Street, are returned with Launceston.

(†) The Parish of Darley is partly in Wirksworth Hundred; the entire Parish contains 1,890 Inhabitants.—(†) The entire Parish of Edensor contains 752 Inhabitants.—(†) The entire Parish of Eyam contains 1,516 Inhabitants. The failure of lead mines in the Township of Foolow has caused a decrease of Population therein.—(†) The entire Parish of Glossop contains 13,766 Inhabitants; the increase of Population being ascribed to increased cotton manufactories. Several Townships now make distinct Returns, which, in 1811, were comprised in the Return of Glossop Township.—(†) The entire Parish of Hathersage contains 1,856 Inhabitants.—(†) The entire Parish of Hope contains 4,102 Inhabitants, besides those which reside in part of the Township of Wardlow, the whole of which are entered in Bakewell Parish.—(†) The entire Parish of Tideswell contains 2,666 Inhabitants.

(°) The entire Parish of Pentrich contains 2,143 Inhabitants. The Population has decreased one-third in the Township of Pentrich since 1811; which is said to be owing to the insurrection which took place there in 1817, in consequence of which the Duke of Devonshire's agents destroyed many of the houses.—(¹) The Township of Risley is entered wholly in Sawley Parish.—(²) The entire Parish of Sawley contains 3,643 Inhabitants.—(³) The entire Parish of Stanton-by-Dale contains 686 Inhabitants.—(⁴) A large poor-house belonging to several Townships, has been built at Wiln.—(⁵) Most part of the Parish of Appleby is entered in the Hundred of Sparkenhoe, Leicestershire.—(⁶) Most part of the Parish of Burton-upon-Trent is in North Offlow Hundred, Staffordshire.—(w) Chilcote Chapelry is connected with Clifton Campville Parish, Offlow Hundred, Staffordshire.—(x) The entire Parish of Church-Gresley contains 1,951 Inhabitants, including the whole of Oakthorpe, which is partly in Stretton-en-le-Field and Measham; and including the whole of Donisthorpe, which is partly in Nether-Seale Parish, Sparkenhoe Hundred, Leicestershire.—(y) The entire Parish of Croxall contains 905 Inhabitants. It is partly in Offlow Hundred, Staffordshire.—(z) The Extra-parochial Place called Derby-Hills, is situated 9 miles south of Derby.—(²) The entire Parish of Foremark contains 203 Inhabitants.—(b) The entire Parish of Lullington contains 586 Inhabitants.—(c) The Parish of Measham has sustained a decrease of Population from the failure of cotton trade, and of collieries: it extends into Oakthorpe Township, entered with Church-Gresley Parish; Measham, Stretton-en-le-Fields and Willesey, form a detached portion of the Hundred, being locally situate in Leicestershire.

THE Total Number of Persons in the county of Dorset being . . . 144,499, . . . and the Number of Persons whose Ages were returned being . . . 137,511, . . . it thence appears, that the Ages of one in twenty-one of the persons therein enumerated have not been obtained in compliance with the question to that effect.

The Total Number of Enumeration Returns received from the county of Dorset, was 309, six of which did not return any answer whatever to the question concerning the Ages of persons, and are thus marked (—); and a small proportion of the Returns of Ages were somewhat deficient, or redundant,—or incorrect in the respective numbers of Males and Females.

THE Total Number of Persons in the county of Essex was . . . 289,424, . . . and the Number of Persons whose Ages were returned was . . . 273,448, . . . whence it appears, that the Ages of one forty-eighth part of the persons therein enumerated have not been obtained in compliance with the question to that effect.

The Total Number of Enumeration Returns received from the county of Essex was 431, ten of which did not contain any answer whatever to the question concerning the Ages of persons, and are marked thus (+); and a small proportion of the Returns of Ages were somewhat deficient, or redundant,—or incorrect in the respective numbers of Males and Females.

County of Gloucester.

(†) The entire Parish of Quedgley contains 263 Inhabitants; it extends into Dudstone and King's-Barton Hundred.—(†) The Parishes of St. James, of St. Paul, and of St. Philip and St. Jacob, are mostly in Barton-Regis Hundred, which is subjoined to the actual Returns of the County of the City of Bristol, in order to afford a just view of the Population of that City. Some of the Parishes of Barton-Regis Hundred cannot indeed properly be deemed suburbs of the City; but on the South side of the River Avon, the suburb of Bedminster cannot be included, as being in Somersetshire; upon the whole, the City of Bristol is thus represented as containing rather more inhabitants than may be deemed to reside in it. The entire Parish of St. Philip and St. Jacob contains 15,497 Inhabitants; those of St. James and St. Paul 19,729 Inhabitants; but these cannot be distinctly ascribed, the Return of the Out part of these Parishes (so called) being conjoined.—(†) Trinity Ward, which heretofore made a separate Return, is now included in the Returns of the Parishes of Christ-Church, St. John Baptist, and St. Peter's. The Hospital in the Parish of St. Peter contained 168 Males, and 273 Females, at the time of making the Return.—(†) In the Parish of St. George, one Female upwards of 100 years of age.

THE Total Number of Enumeration Returns received from the county of Gloucester was 439; thirty-nine of which did not contain any answer whatever to the question concerning Ages, and are marked thus (+): among which are all the Parishes (except one) of the City of Bristol, Clifton also, and Cheltenham: A small proportion of the Returns of Ages were somewhat deficient, or redundant,—or incorrect in the respective numbers of Males and Females.

THE Total Number of Persons in the County of Hereford was 103,243, and the Number of Persons whose Ages were returned was 102,799, whence it appears, that the Ages of almost all the Persons therein enumerated have been obtained in compliance with the question to that effect.

The Total Number of Enumeration Returns received from the County of Hereford was 281, two of which did not contain any answer whatever to the question concerning the Ages of persons, and are marked thus (+): and a small proportion of the Returns of Ages were somewhat deficient, or redundant,—or incorrect in the respective numbers of Males and Females.

County of Hertford.

THE Total Number of Persons in the County of Hertford was 129,714, and the Number of Persons whose Ages were returned was 124,466, whence it appears, that the Ages of one twenty-fifth part of the Persons therein enumerated were not obtained in compliance with the question to that effect.

The Total Number of Enumeration Returns received from the County of Hertford was 150, one of which (Cheshunt) did not contain any answer whatever to the question concerning the Ages of persons, and is marked thus (+); and a small proportion of the Returns of Ages were somewhat deficient, or redundant,—or incorrect in the respective numbers of Males and Females.

County of Huntingdon.

THE Total Number of Persons in the County of Huntingdon was . . . 48,771 . . . and the Number of Persons whose Ages were returned, was . . . 45,452 . . . whence it appears, that the Ages of one-fifteenth part of the Persons therein enumerated, have not been obtained in compliance with the question to that effect.

The Total Number of Enumeration Returns received from the County of Huntingdon was 107, two of which (St. Ives and Hilton) did not contain any answer whatever to the question concerning the Ages of persons, and are marked thus (-): and a small proportion of the Returns of Ages were somewhat deficient, or redundant,—or incorrect in the respective numbers of Males and Females.

(*) The largest part of Charlton Parish is distinguished in the Return as being in the Cinque Port Liberty of Dover. The entire Parish contains 791 Inhabitants.—(b) The decrease of Population in the Parish of Deal (to the amount of 540 persons) is attributed to the cessation of war.—(c) Hougham Parish is partly in Folkestone Hundred, Lathe of Sheppey, and partly in the Cinque Port Liberty of Dover. The entire Parish contains 834 Inhabitants.—(d) The increased Population in the Parish of Horne is attributed to the building of lodging-houses at Hearn Bay.—(e) Beaksbourne Parish is in the Cinque Port Liberty of Hastings.—(f) Horton Chapelry is included in the Return of Chartham, Felborough Hundred, Lathe of Scray.—(g) A poor-house belonging to Twelve United Parishes is situate in Waltham Parish, and contains 57 males and 41 females, included in the Return of that Parish.—(h) Ringswold Parish is in the Cinque Port Liberty of Dover. The 35 families in the third column of Occupations, are chiefly employed in fishing.—(i) Walmer Parish is in the Cinque Port Liberty of Sandwich. The decrease of Population (to the amount of 586 persons) is attributable to the comparative disuse of the barracks. One female upwards of 100 years of age at Walmer.

(l) Speldhurst Parish extends into Somerden Hundred, Lathe of Sutton-at-Hone.—(j) Tudeley Parish extends into Twyford Hundred.—(k) The Return for Wrotham Parish includes the Townships of Hale, Nepcar, Plaxtol, Winfield, and Roughway, which Townships in 1801, and also in 1811, made distinct Returns.—(l) The increase in Hawk-hurst Parish is attributed to the great addition of hop plantations, and to a boarding school of 70 boys, which has been established since 1811. This Parish extends into the County of Sussex (Hundred of Henhurst, Rape of Hastings,) but the whole is here entered.—(m) Brook Parish extends into Wye Hundred.

(a) The Liberty of Romney Marsh extends into several of the Hundreds of the Lathe of Shepway, so that if a Parish is not found in its Hundred, it is probably entered in the Liberty of Romney Marsh. A few Parishes (marked thus *) are entered partly in their respective Hundreds, partly in the Liberty; but no part of the Hundreds of Langport and Martin Pountney, and Worth, nor of New Romney Liberty, is entered otherwise than as included in Romney Marsh, which is inserted last of all in this Lathe.

(†) The decrease of Population in Sheerness Ville is attributed to a reduction in the Dock-yard and Ordnance establishments; the entire Parish of Minster contains 8,414 Inhabitants.—(u) Ebony Parish is partly in Tenterden Hundred, but wholly entered in Oxney Hundred, Lathe of Shepway.—(w) Tenterden Parish is in the Cinque Port Liberty of Hastings.—(x) Brook Parish is partly in Wye Hundred, but is wholly entered in Chart and Longbridge Hundred.—(y) The Barony of Bircholt is sometimes attributed to the Lathe of Scray; the Barony contains Bircholt, Braybourn and Hastingleigh; the Franchise contains part of Aldington and Smecth.—(z) Aldington Parish is partly in the Liberty of Romney Marsh; the entire Parish contains 735 Inhabitants.—(z) Acriste Parish is partly in Folkestone Hundred, but wholly entered in Longborough Hundred.—(b) The Return of Cheriton Parish is exclusive of Half-pay Officers, Pensioners, and the Preventive Service Men.

THE Total Number of Persons in the County of Kent was 426,016, and the Number of Persons whose Ages were returned was 355,546, whence it appears, that the Ages of one-sixth part of the Persons therein enumerated, have not been obtained in compliance with the question to that effect.

The Total Number of Enumeration Returns received from the County of Kent was 446; twenty of which did not contain any answer to the question concerning the Ages of Persons, and are thus marked (+): and a small proportion of the Returns of Ages were somewhat deficient, or redundant,—or incorrect in the respective numbers of Males and Females.

(*) The entire Parish of Preston contains 27,300 Inhabitants. The large increase of Population in the Borough of PRESTON is ascribed to the extension of trade.—(h) Most part of Ribchester Parish is in Blackburn Hundred.—(i) The entire Parish of Bury contains 34,581 Inhabitants. Most part of Bury Parish is in Salford Hundred. (k) The Parish of Mitton is mostly in Yorkshire, W. Riding, (Staincliffe and Eweross Wapentake).—(l) The entire Parish of Whalley (which is partly in the Lower Division) contains 84,198 Inhabitants. The great increase of Population, especially in the Townships of New-Accrington, Burnley, Clithero, Colne, and Wiswell, is ascribed to the extension of manufacture in spinning cotton thread, weaving and printing calico, and a new colliery has been opened in the Township called Ightenhill-Park. Deadwin-Clough, Tunstead, Wolfenden, and Bacup are included in the Return of New-Church; Hewthorn and Coalcoates, in the return of Little Mitton. The Parish is said to extend into Cheshire (Eddisbury Hundred) and Yorkshire (Staincliffe and Eweross Wapentake.)

(y) The increase of Population at Upper-Holker is ascribed to the prosperity of trade, and the improvement of medical knowledge.—

(z) The Return of the Parish of Coulton includes the Townships of East and West-Conton, Haverthwaite, Fintwaite, and Rusland, and Nibthwaite; all which made separate Returns in 1811.—(y) The entire Parish of Hawkeshead contains 2,446 Inhabitants.—(z) The entire Parish of Dalton-in-Furness contains 2,914 Inhabitants. The increase of Population is ascribed to the depressed state of the manufacturing districts, causing the Inhabitants to resort to agricultural Parishes.—

(x) The entire Parish of Kirkby-Ireleth contains 2,947 Inhabitants. A similar remark to that on Hawkeshead.—(y) The entire Parish of Ulverstone contains 7,102 Inhabitants. A small decrease of Population at Egton is ascribed to the disuse of a cotton mill. Slate-quarries are opened at Satterthwaite.—(z) The Return of Urswick Parish includes the Townships of Adgarley, Bardsea, Stalton, and Bolton; all which made separate Returns in 1811.—(y) The entire Parish of Bolton-le-Sands contains 1,821 Inhabitants. A Township called Bolton made Return of 137 Inhabitants in 1811; but is supposed on enquiry to have been a duplicate Return of part of Bolton-le-Sands Township.—(z) The Parish of Burton-in-Kendal is mostly in Westmoreland; (Kendal Ward, and Lonsdale Ward).—(y) The entire Parish of Cockerham contains 2,624 Inhabitants; not including part of Cleveley Township, which is wholly entered in Garstang Parish, (Ammouderness.)

(P) The entire Parish of Bolton contains 50,197 Inhabitants. The great increase is attributed to the extension of the cotton manufacture. The Return of Little Bolton Township speaks of the revival of trade; and that of Tonge Township, states the general prosperity of trade and manufacture, notwithstanding occasional checks during the last ten years. One female upwards of 100 years of age in Sharpley Township.—
(Q) The entire Parish of Bury (which is partly in Blackburn Hundred) contains 34,581 Inhabitants.—(R) The entire Parish of Dean contains 18,916 Inhabitants. The increase of the manufacture of calico printing is stated in the Return of Horwick Township.—(T) The entire Parish of Eccles contains 23,331 Inhabitants. The increase of the bleaching trade is mentioned in the Return of Barton; and new collieries opened at Clifton.—(U) The entire Parish of Flixton contains 2,249 Inhabitants.—(V) The entire Parish of Manchester, including the Town of Manchester and its Suburb Salford (entered at the end of the County) contains 186,942 Inhabitants. The new Road to Manchester, and the establishment of print-works and dye-houses, is mentioned as a cause of increased population at Blackley. One male, upwards of 100 years of age at Ardwick.

(1) The entire Parish of Septon contains 3,433 Inhabitants.—

(k) Toxteth, which seems not to have been included in any ancient Parish, possesses two places of Divine Worship, St. James's and St. Michael's, the last recently consecrated.—(l) The entire Parish of Walton-on-the-Hill contains 14,765 Inhabitants. The County House of Correction at Kirkdale contained 520 inmates in May 1821. The neighbourhood of Liverpool accounts for the increase of Population at West-Derby, and other Townships.—(m) The entire Parish of Warrington contains 16,698 Inhabitants.—(n) The entire Parish of Wigan is partly in Salford Hundred, and contains 36,818 Inhabitants. The extension of the collieries at Haigh, Orrell, and Pemberton, is stated to have caused an increase of Population; new factories at Hindley and Ince have had the same effect; and both these causes at Upholland. The Borough of Wigan is entered at the end of the County.—(o) The entire Parish of Winwick contains 16,229 Inhabitants. A resort of persons from neighboring Townships is stated in the Return of Ashton in Mackerfield; and an extension of the Haydock collieries, as causing an unusual increase of Population.

(F) The entire Parish of Lancaster, which is partly in Amonderness, partly in South Lonsdale Hundred, contains 19,272 Inhabitants. A worsted manufacture has caused an increase of Population in the Borough; and the County Lunatic Asylum is established at Lancaster.—(*) Two males and four females upwards of 100 years of age at Liverpool.—

(†) The great enlargement of the Town of Manchester, in consequence of its manufactures, has caused the Townships of Ardwick, Charlton-Row, and Hulme, to become constituent parts of the actual Town, which so taken contains 149,756 Inhabitants; but for the sake of uniformity with the Abstracts of 1801 and 1811, Salford only is here entered. The entire Parish of Manchester contains 186,942 Inhabitants. The New Bailey prison at Salford, contained 594 inmates in May 1821.—(‡) A resort of persons from Ireland is mentioned in the Wigan Return.

THE Total Number of Persons in the County of Lancaster was . . . 1,052,859, . . . and the Number of Persons whose Ages were returned was . . . 889,461, . . . whence it appears, that the Ages of one-sixth part of the persons therein enumerated, have not been obtained in compliance with the question to that effect.

The Total Number of Enumeration Returns received from the County of Lancaster was 464; ten of which (including Manchester and Salford) did not contain any answer to the question concerning the Ages of Persons, and are thus marked (→): and a small proportion of the Returns of Ages were somewhat deficient, or redundant,—or incorrect in the respective numbers of Males and Females.

County of Leicester.

(a) The entire Parish of Ab-Kettleby contains 319 Inhabitants.—

(b) The Inhabitants at Belvoir are chiefly servants with their families, and mechanics employed by his Grace the Duke of Rutland, and occupying the detached offices belonging to Belvoir-Castle, excepting only an innkeeper and his family. Belvoir is partly in the Soke of Grantham, County of Lincoln.—(c) The entire Parish of Buckminster contains 625 Inhabitants.—(d) Cold-Overton, Somerby and Witcote, form a detached portion of Framland Hundred to the southward.—(e) The increase of Population in Melton-Mowbray is chiefly attributed to a large hunting establishment being kept in the town and neighbourhood. The entire Parish contains 2,990 Inhabitants.—(f) The entire Parish of Billesdon contains 751 Inhabitants.—(g) The entire Parish of Bowden, Magna contains 2,834 Inhabitants.—(h) The entire Parish of Bringinghurst contains 735 Inhabitants. The diminution of Population at Drayton is attributed to an inclosure, and to putting out many apprentices.

(mm) One female upwards of 100 years of age in Lutterworth Parish.

(n) Most part of St. Margaret's Parish is in the Borough of LEICESTER, which is entered at the end of the County.—(o) Misterton Parish includes the Hamlets of Poultnay and Walcot.—(p) No distinct Return was made for South-Fields in 1811, nor does any such place appear to have been noticed. The observation upon the present Return is, that in 1811, there were only six houses in South Fields; and the excess of Females is attributed to the great number of servants, amongst whom there are only two Male servants.—(q) Appleby Parish is partly in Repton and Grosley Hundred, County of Derby. The entire Parish contains 1,781 Inhabitants.—(r) The entire Parish of Aston-Flamville contains 1,584 Inhabitants.—(s) Aylestone Parish is in Guthlaxton Hundred. Lubbethorpe is called (in the present Return) an Extra-Parochial Liberty.—(t) The entire Parish of Barwell contains 1,371 Inhabitants.—(u) The entire Parish of Cadeby contains 343 Inhabitants. Osbaston Township is partly in Market-Bosworth Parish.—(v) The entire Parish of Desford contains 872 Inhabitants.—(w) The entire Parish of Glenfield contains 932 Inhabitants.—

(x) A coal pit has been opened in Heather Parish, and several new houses are inhabited by colliers.—(y) Hinckley includes the Hamlet of Hydes-Pastures, situate in the Hundred of Knightlow (Southern Division) County of Warwick. The entire Parish of Hinckley contains 6,706 Inhabitants. The Population of Hinckley is said to have increased from 1811 to 1815; and since that to have declined, in consequence of the cessation of trade with America; hence also paupers have increased, and are very burthensome on the rest of the Inhabitants.

(*) The entire Parish of Ibstock contains 1,741 Inhabitants.—

(b) The entire Parish of Kirkby-Mallory contains 2,067 Inhabitants.—

(c) Barton-in-the-Beans is partly in Nailstone Parish, partly in Shackerstone Parish, but wholly entered here; so that the entire Parish of Market-Bosworth contains rather less than 2,677 Inhabitants. Osbaston Township is partly in Cadeby Parish, and entered accordingly; part of the Township of Osbaston is said to be included in the Return of Market-Bosworth.—(d) Merevale Parish is partly in the Hundred of Hemlingford (Atherstone Division) County of Warwick, where the whole is entered.—(e) The entire Parish of Nailstone contains rather more than 574 Inhabitants; Barton-in-the-Beans being partly in Market-Bosworth Parish, in which it is wholly entered.—(f) The entire Parish of Narborough contains 1,064 Inhabitants.—(g) The entire Parish of Norton contains 502 Inhabitants.—(h) The increase of Population in Ratby Parish, is attributed to the increase of frame-work knitting. The entire Parish contains 1,025 Inhabitants.—(i) Fifty-five persons are in a house of industry at Sapcote, and it is difficult to determine in what column some families ought to be placed.—(k) The entire Parish of Shackerstone contains rather more than 486 Inhabitants; the Township of Barton-in-the-Beans being partly in Market-Bosworth Parish, and the whole therewith entered.—(l) The entire Parish of Sheepy-Magna contains 638 Inhabitants.—(m) The entire Parish of Sibson contains 378 Inhabitants.—(n) Temple-Hall includes Wilsborough Extra-Parochial.—(o) The entire Parish of Thornton contains 1,066 Inhabitants.—(p) The entire Parish of Thurlaston contains 549 Inhabitants.—(q) The entire Parish of Witherley contains 471 Inhabitants.

() The Parish of St. Margaret is partly in Guthlaxton Hundred; and a considerable portion of the Parish called "Bishop's Fee," is locally situate in Gartree Hundred. The increase of Population is partly attributed to the return of discharged and disembodied soldiers, together with a continuance of public tranquillity. The entire Parish contains 15,409 Inhabitants; one male upwards of 100 years of age in St. Margaret with Bishop's Fee Parish.—() The difference in the number of Females in Newark Liberty, between the Returns of 1811 and 1821, is accounted for by the removal of a large female boarding school; and the large proportion of old persons in so small a place, is in consequence of an hospital containing upon an average forty aged persons of both sexes.

THE Total Number of Persons in the County of Leicester was . . . 174,571, . . . and the Number of Persons whose Ages were returned was . . . 173,766, . . . whence it appears, that the Ages of nearly all the Persons therein enumerated have been obtained in compliance with the question to that effect.

The Total Number of Enumeration Returns received from the County of Leicester was 348; four of which (very small in amount of Persons) did not contain any answer to the question concerning the Ages of Persons, and are marked thus (+): and a small proportion of the Returns of Ages were somewhat deficient, or redundant,—or incorrect in the respective numbers of Males and Females.

(*) The increase of Population in the Parishes of Cowbit, Crowland, Pinchbeck, Spalding, and Whaplode, is attributed to Inclosures ; in Gedney Hill, to the improved state of Agriculture.—(b) The apparent diminution of Population in Deeping-Fen, arises from many of the Inhabitants being now returned in the parts of Kesteven.—(c) The entire Parish of Gedney contains 1,786 Inhabitants.—(d) The entire Parish of Long-Sutton contains 3,955 Inhabitants.—(e) The entire Parish of Whaplode contains 1,744 Inhabitants.—(f) The increase of Population in Gosberton is attributed to Inclosure, and the prevalence of Eastardy.—(g) Harts-Grounds, or Gibbet-Hills, Extra-parochial, are adjacent to Swineshead Parish. The Extra-parochial places in the Hundred of Kirton arise from the improved drainage of the Fens.—(h) The entire Parish of Kirton contains 1,802 Inhabitants.—(i) Skirbeck Parish is mostly in Skirbeck Hundred. The entire Parish contains 1,907 Inhabitants.—(k) The Waste-Lands are supposed to be now included in the Return from Boston, as Extra-parochial.—(l) The increase of Population in Fishtoft, Leake, and Boston, is attributed to the Inclosure of Common Lands and Fens ; in the latter place moreover, to the depressed state of Agriculture, which is supposed to cause a greater resort to Towns. One female upwards of 100 years of age in Boston.

(a) The entire Parish of Norton Bishop contains 413 Inhabitants.—

(b) The Townships of Carrington, East-Ville, Mid-Ville, Frith-Ville, and West-Ville, (also Langrick-Ville and Thornton-le-Fen, in Horncastle Soke), were created as such by Act of Parliament, on occasion of a very extensive Drainage of Fen Lands, and are not dependent on any Parish. This Act (which was passed in the year 1812) recites the Acts for draining and allotting Wildmore Fen, and the West and East Fens, and states the public utility and convenience of dividing about 14,000 acres (part thereof) into Seven Townships; in order that the general public laws now in force, concerning Constables, and for the Relief and Employment of the Poor, might be put in force. Most of the Parishes in the Soke of Bolingbroke appear to have increased in Population, by reason of Allotments of Fen Lands; and especially the Parish of Bolingbroke, from lots of ten acres each, leased on condition of building Houses thereon.

(*) The entire Parish of Caistor, which is partly in Walscroft Wapentake, contains 1,388 Inhabitants.—(?) The entire Parish of Wrawby-with-Kettleby contains 2,120 Inhabitants.—(?) Bracebridge, Branston, Canwick and Waddington, with Meer Hospital, in which collectively, the Population appears to be 1,781, constitute the Liberty of the City of Lincoln, but are situate out of the actual City to the southward. On the other hand, the Parishes of St. Mary-Magdalen-in-the-Bail, St. Peter-in-the-Bail, and part of St. Margaret-in-the-Close, the collective Population of which appears to be 2,409, are locally situate in the City of Lincoln, but are ascribed to Lawress Wapentake. Meer Hospital, included in the Return of Waddington, contains 15 persons.

(2) Edmonton was heretofore returned as divided into four Wards. The increase of Population is ascribed to the resort of persons to places near the Metropolis, where wages are higher than elsewhere.—(b) Enfield was heretofore returned as divided into four Quarters. At Enfield was a manufactory of small arms, until the end of the late war.—(c) At Monken-Hadley many cottages have been built, from the known liberality of the neighbourhood.—(d) A manufactory has been transferred from Nottingham to Tottenham. The Parish of Tottenham contains 5,812 Inhabitants.—(e) At Cowley several cottages have been demolished.—(f) Inclosure of land has taken place at Cranford and at Hillingdon; and many houses have been built on the small allotments. Hillingdon Parish, including Uxbridge, contains 5,636 Inhabitants.—(g) Between thirty and forty persons died of a fever in the years 1818 and 1819 at Harmondsworth.—(h) Harrow-on-the-Hill was heretofore returned as divided into two Hamlets and the Town.—(i) One female upwards of 100 years of age at Hendon, where the increase of Population is ascribed to boarding-schools, and to the residence of the infant poor of St. Clement Dances and of St. Martin-in-the-Fields.—(k) Several seminaries or academies for education have been established at Great Stanmore and Little Stanmore.—(l) The Town of Hounslow is partly in Heston Parish, partly in Isleworth Parish. New inclosures at Heston and Twickenham, and many houses built on small allotments.—(m) One female upwards of 100 years of age at Twickenham.

(a) The administration of the Poor Laws is supposed to cause an increase in the Population of Clerkenwell; all, who can make out a case of apparent poverty, being relieved; St. James and St. John's form the Parish of Clerkenwell.—(c) Glass-House Yard is deemed to be in the Parish of St. Botolph without Aldersgate (City of London without the Walls.) Several houses are said to have been demolished, but the Population is as in 1811.—(r) The Town of Highgate is partly in Hornsey Parish, partly in St. Pancras Parish. A new inclosure at Hornsey, has caused an increase of Population.—(s) One female upwards of 100 years of age at Islington.—(t) The entire Parish of St. Luke's contains 40,876 Inhabitants.—(u) The most populous part of the Parish of St. Sepulchre is distinguished as Saint Sepulchre without Newgate, as is entered as part of the City of London without the Walls.—(v) Part of the Parish of St. Andrew (Holborn) is in the City of London without the Walls. The entire Parish, or United Parishes of St. Andrew and St. George-the-Martyr, thus contain 41,728 Inhabitants.—(w) The apparent increase of Population in the Liberty of Saffron Hill, is attributed partly to the greater facility of obtaining Returns of Males, when not apprehensive of serving in the militia; and to the diminished mortality of infants.—(x) The Parish of St. Clement Danes is mostly in the City of Westminster, and so entered.—(y) The Duchy of Lancaster Precinct is part of the Parish of St. Mary-le-Strand, Westminster.—(z) In the Return from Mary-le-Bone, lodgers have very generally been taken as distinct families. When the Enumeration was taken, many principal families were gone out of town. One male, and six females, upwards of 100 years of age, in this Parish.—(a) Four females, upwards of 100 years of age, in the Parish of St. Pancras, which extends into the Town of Highgate.—(b) One male upwards of 100 years of age in the Rolls Liberty.—(c) One male upwards of 100 years of age in the Parish of Chelsea. Knightsbridge is partly in Chelsea, partly in Kensington, partly in St. Margaret's (Westminster).—(d) One female upwards of 100 years of age at Chiswick.—(e) The Parish of Fulham (including Hammersmith) contains 15,301 Inhabitants.

THE Total Number of Persons in the County of Middlesex was 1,144,531, and the Number of Persons whose Ages were returned was 911,834, whence it appears, that the Ages of about one-fifth part of the Persons therein enumerated have not been obtained in pursuance of the question to that effect.

The Total Number of Enumeration Returns received from the County of Middlesex was 239; twenty-seven of which did not contain any answer to the question concerning the Ages of Persons, and are thus marked (-+); and a certain proportion of the Returns of Ages were deficient, a few others redundant,—or incorrect in the respective numbers of Males and Females.

County of Monmouth.

(*) Most part of Abergavenny Parish is in the Lower Division of the Hundred.—(b) The increase of Population in the Parish of Lanfoist, in the Higher Division of Lanover Parish, and in the Parish of Treve- than is ascribed to the extension of iron works.—(c) A colliery has been opened at Lanhilleth.—(d) Lanwenarth Ultra, and Lanwenarth Citra, (which is in the Lower Division of this Hundred) form the Parish of Lanwenarth. The entire Parish contains 2,001 Inhabitants. The increase of Population in the Upper Division of Lanwenarth Parish, particularly among the males, is attributed to the recent establishment of collieries and forges, at Carn-y-Derris in the Parish of Lanwenarth.—(e) Abergavenny Parish is partly in the Upper Division of this Hundred. The entire Parish contains 3,592 Inhabitants.—(f) Cwm-yoye Parish is partly in Gwas-y-Lacy Hundred, County of Hereford, and entered accordingly. The Upper Division includes Llantony-Abbey. The entire Parish contains 679 Inhabitants.—(g) Most part of Lanarth Parish is in the Lower Division of Ragland Hundred.—(h) One female upwards of 100 years of age at Langattock-Lingoed.—(i) Lantilio Pertholey, Citra and Ultra, form the Parish of Lantilio-Pertholey. The entire Parish contains 726 Inhabitants.—(j) Lanhangel Crucorney Parish is partly in Skentreth Hundred, Upper Division. The entire Parish contains 366 Inhabitants.—(k) Lanwenarth Ultra, part of Lanwenarth Parish is in the Upper Division of Abergavenny Hundred, and entered accordingly.—(ll) The Parish of St. Arvans extends into Upper Ragland Hundred. The entire Parish contains 907 Inhabitants.—(l) Howick seems in some respects a Hamlet of the Parish of Itton.—(m) The entire Parish of Lanvair-Discoed contains 211 Inhabitants.

(1) The entire Parish of Langattock contains 1,360 Inhabitants.—

(k) The entire Parish of Llanvrechva contains 973 Inhabitants.—

(1) The increase of the Population in the Parish of Panteague is ascribed to the establishing of iron and tin works since 1811, but which are not, at this time, in full operation.—(m) Most part of Usk Parish is in the Upper Division of the Hundred of Usk.—(n) Bassaleg Parish is partly in the Lower Division of the Hundred of Wentlloog. The entire Parish contains 1,329 Inhabitants.—(o) The increase of Population in St. Woollos Parish is attributed to the erection of cottages and other buildings at Pillgwenlly, and other places near the Town of Newport, where the Inhabitants are chiefly employed in shipping coal, iron, &c. and bringing the same from coal and iron works on the hills, as Halliers.—(p) Most part of Bassaleg Parish is in the Upper Division of the Hundred of Wentlloog.—(q) Bedwas Parish is partly in Caerphilly Hundred, County of Glamorgan, and entered accordingly. The entire Parish contains 650 Inhabitants.—(r) The entire Parish of Bedwelty contains 6,382 Inhabitants. The increase of Population in the Hamlets of Ishlawreod, Mamhole, and Ushlawreod, is attributed to the extension of the coal and iron works in the neighbourhood.—(*) Machen Parish, consisting of the Upper and Lower Divisions.

THE Total Number of Persons in the County of Monmouth was . . . 71,833 . . . and the Number of Persons whose Ages were returned, was . . . 71,453 . . . whence it appears, that the Ages of almost all the Persons therein enumerated, have been obtained in compliance with the question to that effect.

The Total Number of Enumeration Returns received from the County of Monmouth was 158; every one of which contained an answer to the question concerning the Ages of Persons. A small proportion of the Returns of Ages were somewhat deficient, or redundant,—or incorrect in the respective numbers of Males and Females.

(d) "The Parish of Horsley principally consists of low marshes, bogs, and water, is nearly insulated by the sea to the east; the Hundred stream, or river which divides Happing from East Flegg to the south, reflect Dike and Horsley Mere to the west and north. The said Parish of Horsley was inclosed about seven or eight years ago by Act of Parliament, which caused an increase of Population, by

"several families settling therein about that period, who are now in a distressed state from the diminished price and scarcity of labour." (Signed) William Dawson, Overseer. (e) An inclosure of land at East Ruston, and many cottages built on small allotments.—(f) A manufacture of bombasin is established at Saxlingham, Nethergate.

(^a) The entire Parish of Aston-le-Walls contains 271 Inhabitants.—

(^b) Lower Boddington and Upper Boddington were returned separately in 1811.—(^c) The introduction of machinery is supposed to have prevented the increase of Population at Byfield.—(^d) Lace-making is mentioned as the cause of an increasing Population at Alderton, Grafton-Regis, and Stoke Bruerne. The entire Parish of Stoke-Bruerne contains 732 Inhabitants.—(^e) The Hamlet of Old Stratford is partly in the Parish of Cosgrove, partly in the Parish of Furtho, partly in the Parish of Passenham (which Parish includes the Hamlet of Denshanger), and partly in the Parish of Potters-Pury. The entire Parish of Potters-Pury contains 1,410 Inhabitants.—(^f) Blatherwycke comprises the Parishes of St. Mary Magdalen and the Holy Trinity; united in the year 1448.

(^g) The entire Parish of Cottingham contains 839 Inhabitants.—

(^h) The decrease of Population in the Parish of Laxton, is in consequence of some families being removed to an adjoining Parish.

(1) Daventry Parish includes the Hamlet of Drayton.—(K) The increase of Population in Newnham Parish is partly attributed to lace-making, partly to a school for boys having been established since 1811.

(2) Norton Parish includes the Hamlets of Muscott and Thorpe.—(3) The entire Parish of Blakesley contains 752 Inhabitants.—(4) The entire Parish of Cannons-Ashby contains 203 Inhabitants.—(5) Luffield Abbey, Extra-Parochial, is partly in Greens-Norton, partly in Buckingham Hundred, County of Buckingham, and is included in the Return of the Parish of Stow.—(6) The greater part of the families in the second column of occupations, were brought up in the woollen manufactory, which a few years back flourished in the village of Long-Buckby; but that trade having failed, nearly the whole are maintained by agricultural labour; so likewise in Great-Creaton Parish, many families are now employed in husbandry who formerly were occupied in the woollen manufactory. Including Murcott, the Parish of Long-Buckby contains 1,843 Inhabitants.

(*) The entire Parish of Guilborough contains 950 Inhabitants.—

(†) The apparent increase of Population in West-Haddon Parish, and at Yelvertoft, is attributed to the return of inhabitants, who, in 1811, were working upon the line of the Union Canal, and to the return of other inhabitants then serving in the Army and Navy.—(‡) Most part of Ravensthorpe Parish is in Nottol-Grove Hundred.—(§) The Return of Sywell Parish includes an Extra-Parochial place, containing 12 Inhabitants.—(u) The increase of Population in the Town of Wellingborough is attributed to the numerous families of journeyman shoemakers who went to reside there during the war: the manufacture of shoes being the principal trade in that town.—(w) The increase of Population in the Parish of Burton-Lattimer is attributed to a silk manufacture on an extensive scale: and in the Parish of Irthlingborough to vaccination and early marriages.

(†) Lutton, or Luddington-in-the-Wold, is partly in Norman-Cross Hundred, County of Huntingdon, but the whole is here entered.—
 (†) Warmington Hamlet is included in the Return of Warmington Parish, Polebrook Hundred.—(u) The decrease of Population in the Parish of Castle-Ashby is ascribed to the absence of the family of the Marquess of Northampton.—(w) Hardingstone Parish includes Cotton-end Hamlet. The entire Parish contains 1,012 Inhabitants.—(x) The entire Parish of Huntingdon contains 871 Inhabitants.—(y) The increase of Population in the Parish of St. Giles is ascribed to the great increase of houses since 1811; and that in the Parish of St. Sepulchre to the same cause, which, in the latter Parish, are chiefly occupied by shoemakers, who find full employment in that branch of trade.—(z) One female upwards of 100 years of age at Bainton.—(a) The entire Parish of Barnack contains 649 Inhabitants.—(b) The entire Parish of Castor contains 846 Inhabitants.

THE Total Number of Persons in the County of Northampton was . . . 162,483, . . . and the Number of Persons whose Ages were returned was . . . 149,162, . . . whence it appears, that the Ages of one-twelfth part of the Persons therein enumerated, have not been obtained in compliance with the question to that effect.

The Total Number of Enumeration Returns received from the County of Northampton was 346; five of which did not contain any answer to the question concerning the Ages of Persons, and are marked thus (—): a remarkably small proportion of the Returns of Ages in this County were somewhat deficient, or redundant, or incorrect in the respective numbers of Males and Females.

(b) The Returns of Stannington Parish in 1801, 1811 and 1821 requiring explanation, a circumstantial letter from the Vicar of the Parish is here inserted;—viz. "The Parish of Stannington naturally forms itself " into two Divisions, viz. north and south, the river Elythe, as nearly as " may be, running through the middle of it. It is then subdivided into " 8 Townships. The North Division comprises the 2 Townships of " Stannington; that of Bellasis and Bogghall, Saltwick, Duddo and " Whinny-Hill, Clifton and Coldwell; total 6. The South Division " consists of 2 Townships (viz.) Blagdon and Stumpy-Riggs, and that " of Plessey and Shotton. The Population of the North Division, as " returned to me by the Overseer thereof, consisted of males 265, females " 239; making an aggregate of 504. This subtracted from the total " amount 663, as returned to you, will leave for the South Division 459, " which I dare say may be a very correct account of the Population. " Now as to the proportion of males and females in the South Division, " I have no document by me to shew them, or of the inhabited houses in " either Division; but I apprehend you will not have much difficulty in " methodizing or classing them from such documents as have been sent " you, jumbled together as they are. The most important consideration " I apprehend, with you is, to come correctly at the Population, and I " dare say 663 may be a very true account of it. For the great decrease " in the Population of the Parish, as compared with that of the last census " in 1811, I can very satisfactorily account. About 8 years ago, a very " extensive colliery in the South Division and Township of Plessey, was

" (what is technically called) laid in—that is, discontinued to be worked " or carried on; from which circumstance about 300 pitmen removed " from the Parish to the Chapelry of Cowpen, where a fresh pit or " colliery was opened, and where they continue to dwell. This statement " will account for the great decrease in the Population of the Parish of " Stannington, and also in that of uninhabited houses, and satisfy you that " no part of the Parish has been omitted in taking the Population, which " might naturally enough appear to have been the case, without the " explanation in question. I can throw no other light upon the subject. " but trust what I have here given, may be sufficient for the purposes " required." The entire Parish of Stannington contains 963 Inhab- " itants.—(c) The entire Parish of Whalton contains 534 Inhab- " itants.—(d) Bilton and Wooden are in Coquetdale Ward (East " Division) but are included in the return of Lesbury Parish, Bambrough " Ward (South).—(e) Denwick, included in the Return of Alnwick, is " in Bambrough Ward (South). One male and one female in Alnwick, " upwards of 100 years of age. A great number of workmen are employed " at Alnwick by the Duke of Northumberland.—(f) Part of Felton Parish " is in Morpeth Ward (East); part in Morpeth Ward West Division. The " entire Parish contains 1,516 Inhabitants.—(g) The entire Parish of " Longframlington contains 815 Inhabitants.—(h) The entire Parish of " Shilbottle contains 1,153 Inhabitants.—(i) Warkworth Parish is " mostly in the East Division of Morpeth Ward.

(*) The entire Parish of Lambley contains 261 Inhabitants.—

(i) The increase of Population at Berwick, is ascribed to the employment of workmen on the New Pier, to Vaccine Inoculation, and to the Dispensary lately established for the benefit of the Poor.—(k) All Saints Parish is partly in the East Division of Castle Ward. The entire Parish contains 20,877 Inhabitants. The Parish of St. Andrew is partly in the East and partly in the West Division of Castle Ward. The entire Parish contains 8,115 Inhabitants. The Parish of St. John extends into the West Division of Castle Ward. The entire Parish contains 9,410 Inhabitants. The increase of Population in the Town of Newcastle, is attributed to the effect of Peace, as causing soldiers and sailors to return home; besides that, in the time of War, there was a difficulty in obtaining a full Return of Males, who were liable to serve in the Militia. Gateshead, a suburb of Newcastle, separated from it by the River Tyne, contains 11,767 Inhabitants.

THE Total Number of Persons in the County of Northumberland was . . . 198,965, . . . and the Number of Persons whose Ages were returned was . . 125,937, . . whence it appears, that the Ages of more than one-third of the Persons therein enumerated, have not been obtained in compliance with the question to that effect.

The Total Number of Enumeration Returns received from the County of Northumberland was 534; fourteen of which (among them all the Newcastle-upon-Tyne Returns) did not contain any answer to the question concerning the Ages of Persons, and are marked thus (+); and a small proportion of the Returns of Ages were somewhat deficient, or redundant,—or incorrect in the respective numbers of Males and Females.

County of Nottingham.

(*) Blyth Parish is partly in Southwell and Serooby Liberty, partly in the North, and partly in the South Division of Strafford and Tickhill Wapentake, West Riding of the County of York. The entire Parish contains 3,456 Inhabitants, including Styrup Township; which is partly in Harworth Parish, and partly in Houghton Parish. The increase of Population in the Parish of Blyth is ascribed to the improved state of agriculture, and the consequent employment of labourers.—(b) The entire Parish of Cuckney contains 1,753 Inhabitants.—(c) The entire Parish of Edwinstow contains 1,753 Inhabitants.—(d) Finningley Parish is partly in the Soke of Doncaster (West Riding of Yorkshire). The entire Parish contains 782 Inhabitants.—(e) The increase of Population in Harworth Parish is ascribed to the return of labourers to their Parish from want of employment elsewhere.—(f) The return of Haughton Parish includes Serry.—(g) The increase of Population in Misson Parish is ascribed to the establishment of a brewery.—(h) The entire Parish of Warsop contains 1,141 Inhabitants.—(i) Clareborough is sometimes reckoned part of Southwell and Serooby Liberty. The increase of Population in Clareborough Parish is attributed to the small amount of the poor-rates.—(k) The entire Parish of Clayworth contains 557 Inhabitants.—(l) The entire Parish of South-Leverton contains 374 Inhabitants.—(m) The entire Parish of Misterton contains 1,429 Inhabitants.

THE Total Number of Returns in the County of Nottingham was . . . 186,873, . . . and the Number of Persons whose Ages were returned, was . . . 153,922, . . . whence it appears, that the Ages of nearly one-sixth part of the persons therein enumerated, have not been obtained in compliance with the question to that effect.

The Total Number of Enumeration Returns received from the County of Nottingham was 269; every one of which (the large parish of St. Mary, in the town of Nottingham, excepted) contained an answer to the question concerning the Ages of Persons. A small proportion of the Returns of Ages were somewhat deficient, or redundant,—or incorrect in the respective numbers of Males and Females.

County of Oxford.

(u) The Return of Sandford Parish includes Grove-Ash and Ledwell Hamlets.—(w) The entire Parish of Great-Tew contains 760 Inhabitants.—(x) The glove manufacture has much increased at Wootton.—(y) Cottages having been built at Yarnton to afford more accommodation to the then Inhabitants, the Population has increased thereupon, and over-filled the new cottages also.—(z) The Return of St. Aldate's Parish includes the Tything of Graunpound, which is locally situate in Horner Hundred (Berks.) The Return of this Parish, of All-Saints, of St. Ebbs, of Holywell, St. Mary Magdalen, St. Peter-le-Bailey, and

St. Thomas, mention the increase of lodgers, &c. members of the University.—(?) The cause to which the difference may be attributed (between the numbers inhabiting the colleges and halls in 1811 and 1821) is chiefly the increase of persons seeking their livelihood in the learned professions, in consequence of a return to a state of peace; but the difference can never be very considerable, taken in the mode in which this Enumeration has been taken, because, unless new colleges are erected, the building cannot well hold more than a given number.

(†) Wistanstow Parish is partly in Purslow Hundred. The entire Parish contains 883 Inhabitants.—(†) Halston was formerly a Preceptory of the Knights Templars.—(u) Most part of Llansillin Parish is in Chirk Hundred, County of Denbigh. The entire Parish contains 1,697 Inhabitants.—(w) Llanymynech Parish includes the Townships of Llywntlanan and Treprenal.—(x) The entire Parish of St. Martin contains 1,852 Inhabitants.—(y) Oswestry Parish includes the Townships of Llanforda, Trefarclawdd, Pontgareg, and Llynymon, Maesbury, Morton and Crickheath, Middleton, Aston, Hisland and Wooton, Weston, Sweeney, Treflach and Tresonna, separately returned in 1811. The entire Parish, including the Town of Oswestry, contains 7,523 Inhabitants.—(z) The increase of Population in Selattyn Parish, is attributed to the number of cottages built upon land cultivated since 1811.—(a) Bitterley Parish extends into Munslow Hundred. The decrease of Population, in this Parish, is accounted for by a boarding-school ceasing to exist since 1811, and by the absence of two families from their mansions. The 87 families, in the third column of Occupations, are colliers and miners. One female upwards of 100 years of age in Bitterley Parish.—(b) The entire Parish of Burford contains 1,036 Inhabitants.—(c) St. Mary's Parish is partly in the Borough, and partly in the Liberties of Shrewsbury.

THE Total Number of Persons in the County of Salop was . . . 206,153, . . . and the Number of Persons whose Ages were returned, was . . . 184,199, . . . whence it appears, that the Ages of one-ninth part of all the Persons therein enumerated, have not been obtained in compliance with the question to that effect.

The Total Number of Enumeration Returns received from the County of Salop was 308; fifteen of which did not contain any answer to the question concerning the Ages of Persons, and are marked thus (—): and a small proportion of the Returns were somewhat deficient, or redundant, —or incorrect in the respective numbers of Males and Females; especially in the Hundred of Brimstrey.

(*) Capland Tything, which is partly in Beer-Crocombe Parish, and partly in Broadway Parish, is wholly included in the Return of the latter.

(b) The Parish of Buckland St. Mary extends into the Hundreds of Martock and South-Petherthon. An inclosure of land has taken place in this parish.—(c) The entire Parish of Drayton contains 469 Inhabitants.

(d) Creoch St. Michael, and Lyng with Athelney, form a distinct portion of the Hundred of Andersfield; and Boroughbridge is partly included in the Return of Lyng, partly in Whitley Hundred.—

(e) The Liberty of Easton and of Arnill is included partly in Bath Easton Parish, partly in St. Catherine's Parish.—(f) Walcott Parish is entered with the City of Bath, at the end of the County. The large increase of Population in most of the Parishes in Bath-Forum Hundred, is attributable to the vicinity of Bath.

(c) The entire Parish of Alverstone, contains 10,972 Inhabitants. The decrease of Inhabitants at Gosport is attributed to the return of peace.—(d) Part of Bishops-Waltham Hundred is in New Forest, East Division. St. Mary-Extra is adjacent to the Town of Southampton. Bittern and Pollack are included in the Return of South-Stoneham, Mansbridge Hundred.—(e) The Return of Hambledon Parish, includes the Tythings of Denmead, Earvils, Glidden, Chidden, and Hambledon, which in the year 1811 made distinct Returns.—(f) Meon-Stoke Hundred contains Burwell, part of the Parish of Hambledon, and Lyss-Abbess, the Population of which is included in that of Lyss-Turney (Odiham Hundred and Parish.)—(g) East-Meon Parish is mostly in East-Meon Hundred, (Alton, South Division.)—(h) Portsdown Hundred contains Portsea Guildable, which is entered as part of Portsmouth, at the end of the County.—(i) Farlington Parish includes a house in the Mudlands, Extra-Parochial. The increase of Population is ascribed to the inclosure of the Forest of Bere.—(k) The decrease of Inhabitants at Porchester, is attributed to the removal of the establishment heretofore attendant on the dépôt of French prisoners at Porchester Castle.—(l) The decrease of Population at Wymering is attributed to the barracks at Hilsa being comparatively unoccupied.

 (n) The Return of Newchurch Parish includes the North and South Divisions, and the Town of Ryde, which, in the year 1811, were separately returned.—
 (o) Calbourn Parish includes the Borough of NEWTON.

(p) The Return of Carisbrooke Parish includes the Hamlets of Bilingham, Bowcomb, and Carisbrooke; which, in the year 1811, made distinct Returns. The great increase of Population in the Parish of Carisbrooke arises from the situation of the Borough of NEWPORT, the increasing suburb of which is in Carisbrooke Parish.—
 (q) The Town of West Cowes is in the North Division of Northwood Parish.—
 (r) The Parish of St. Bartholomew, which is partly in the City of Winchester, and partly in Soke Liberty, is wholly included in the Return of the former. The County Bridewell is in this Parish, and the large public school of Hyde Alder.—

 (s) The Return of St. Thomas's Parish includes 34 males and 85 females in the Barracks, and 58 males and 4 females in the gaol.—
 (t) The Parish of Little St. Swithin extends into the City of Winchester. In this Parish are included two schools; one of them containing 148 inmates; also Winchester College, containing 70 scholars, besides servants, and the families of the Warden and of the Second Master; so that the total number of inmates therein is 90.

THE Total Number of Persons in the County of Southampton (Hampshire), was 283,298, and the Number of Persons whose Ages were returned was 276,363, whence it appears, that the Ages of one in forty-one of the Persons therein enumerated, have not been obtained in compliance with the question to that effect.

The Total Number of Enumeration Returns received from the County of Southampton (Hampshire), was 349; nine of which did not contain any answer, and two very defective answers, to the question concerning the Ages of Persons, and are marked thus (+): and a small proportion of the other Returns of Ages were somewhat deficient, or redundant,—or incorrect in the respective numbers of Males and Females.

(†) The entire Parish of Tatenhill contains 2,059 Inhabitants.—

(‡) The increase of Population at Tutbury is ascribed to the inclosure of Needwood Forest.—

(§) The entire Parish of Whittington contains 723 Inhabitants.—

(||) The entire Parish of Yoxhall contains 1,756 Inhabitants.—

(¶) Part of Dudley with Netherton is in the Hundred of Offlow, South, but the whole is entered in Halshire Hundred (Warwick).—

(*) The entire Parish of Aldridge contains 1,682 Inhabitants.—

(††) Many families have removed from Darlaston, to work at the collieries of Wednesbury and West Bromwich.—

(‡‡) The entire Parish of Handsworth contains 3,859 Inhabitants. The Population has increased, caused by the vicinity of Birmingham.—

(§§) The entire Parish of Harbone contains 3,350 Inhabitants.—

(|||) An extensive inclosure has taken place at Shenstone.—

(¶¶) The Parish of St. Michael is partly in the North Division of Offlow Hundred, but mostly in the City of Litchfield.—

(m) Tamworth Parish is partly in North Offlow Hundred, and partly in Hemlingford Hundred (Warwick); the entire Parish contains 7,185 Inhabitants. Wiggington includes Comberfield and Coton. The improved treatment of children is said to have conducted to the increase of Population at Tamworth.—

(n) The Population of Tipton has been increased by the coal and iron trades.—

(o) The entire Parish of Walsall, which includes Bloxwich, contains 11,914 Inhabitants. The Population of Walsall-Foreign, of Wednesbury, and of West-Bromwich, has increased with the increase of the collieries.—

(p) The entire Parish of Weeford contains 440 Inhabitants. The establishment of a school has increased the Population.

THE Total Number of Persons in the County of Stafford was . . . 341,040, . . . and the Number of Persons whose Ages were returned was . . 264,033, . . whence it appears, that the Ages of between one-fourth and one fifth (say two-ninths) of the Persons therein enumerated, have not been obtained in compliance with the question to that effect.

The Total Number of Enumeration Returns received from the County of Stafford was 350; eleven of which (including Walsall and Wolverhampton) did not return any answer to the question concerning the Ages of Persons, and are marked thus (—): and a small proportion of the Returns of Ages were somewhat deficient, or redundant,—or incorrect in the respective numbers of Males and Females.

(b) The Parishes of Bredfield and Dallinghou are partly in Loes Hundred, but are wholly entered in Willford Hundred.—(c) The decrease of Population at Woodbridge, is ascribed to the disuse of the barracks.—(d) Gurlleston and South-Town are united, and frequently reckoned as one Parish.—(e) The House of Industry is situate in Oulton Parish.—(f) The low wages paid to single men, and the absolute want of employment, is said to produce early marriages at Cransford, parochial relief being thereby procured.

(¹) The House of Industry is situate in Shipmeadow Parish.—

(²) The Parishes of Bredfield and Dallinghoo are partly in the Hundred of Loes, but wholly entered here.—(³) The House of Industry for the Hundreds of Loes and Wilford is situate in the Parish of Melton.—

(⁴) Wycks-Bishop Hamlet is included in the Return of St. Clement's Parish. Cold-Dunghills, Extra-parochial, is included partly in St. Clement's Parish and partly in St. Margaret's.—(⁵) The decrease of Population in the Parish of St. Helen's, is attributed to the demolition of cottages, and the absence of the military in time of peace. The improvement of medical science is mentioned in the Return from St. Mary

at the Tower.—(⁶) It is observed in the Return from St. Nicholas, that the labouring classes resort to the town, in order to avoid being placed in the Hundred-Houses (Workhouses), and for the sake of placing their children at Charity Schools.—(⁷) Many small tenements have been built in the Parish of St. Peter; which, added to general causes, such as vaccination and early marriages, have much increased the Population of the Parish.—(⁸) One female in St. Stephen's Parish upwards of 100 years of age.—(⁹) Westerfield Parish is partly in the Hundred of Bosmere and Claydon, where the whole is entered.—(¹⁰) The Return of Whitton Parish includes Thurlston Hundred.

THE Total Number of Persons in the County of Surrey was 398,638, and the Number of Persons whose Ages were returned, was 280,509, whence it appears, that the Ages of between one-third and one-fourth, (say, two-sevenths) of the Persons therein enumerated, have not been obtained in compliance with the question to that effect.

The Total Number of Enumeration Returns received from the County of Surrey was 161; thirteen of which did not contain any answer to the question concerning Ages, and are marked thus (-): (among which are Camberwell, Clapham and Lambeth.) A small proportion of the Returns of Ages were somewhat deficient, or redundant,—or incorrect in the respective numbers of Males and Females.

(h) West-Chiltington and Slinfold Parishes extend into East-Easwrith Hundred (Bramber Rape); but the entire Population is here entered.

(i) Broadwater Parish includes Worthing, a fashionable watering-place, which accounts for the large increase of Population in this Parish.

(k) The entire Parish of Beeding contains 904 Inhabitants.

(l) Edburton Parish extends into Poyning's Hundred (Rape of Lewes), and is entered accordingly. The entire Parish contains 266 Inhabitants.

(m) The Parishes of West-Chiltington and Slinfold are mostly in Arundel Rape, and there entered.—(n) Part of Sullington, containing about 100 Inhabitants, is locally situate near Horsham.—(o) At Thakeham is situate a house of industry, belonging to seven united Parishes; it contains 69 inmates, who are included in the Return of Thakeham Parish.—(p) From the Parish of Horsham, three Returns were received in 1811, distinguishing the Borough-part, the North-part, and the South-part; the increase of Population is attributed to the inclosure of 800 acres of land.

(†) At Shipley the poor-house contains 53 persons, who are included in the Return.—(†) An inclosure of land is mentioned as the cause of a large increase of Population at Chidham.—(†) The regular Return from West-Stoke was not received, and no information could be procured, except of the number of Males and Females; so that the number of Houses and Families therein attributed to West-Stoke is taken from the Return of 1811, as an approximation, and for the sake of conformity.—(††) The increase of Population at Harting is attributed to the return of the poor to their own Parishes, from the growing scarcity of agricultural employment.—(†) Trotton Parish extends into Eastbourne Hundred, including Milland Chapelry. The Population of the whole Parish is here entered.

(*) The facility of obtaining Parish relief is mentioned as the cause of increased Population at Wartling.—(b) Broomhill Parish is partly in Goldspur Hundred, but is wholly entered in the Liberty of Romney-Marsh, Lathe of Sleafway (Kent).—(c) The Town and Port of Hastings contained 3,848 Inhabitants in 1811, at present 5,085 Inhabitants, it being a fashionable watering place; the families of fishermen are included in the third column of Occupations.—(d) The Parish of St. Mary-in-the-Castle is partly in Baldslow Hundred. The entire Parish contains 1,228 Inhabitants.—(e) Burwash Parish extends into Shoyswell and Henhurst Hundreds, but is entered wholly in Hawkesborough Hundred. The Return of paupers to their Parishes is mentioned as a cause of the increase of Population here and at Dallington, but cannot be generally applicable.—(f) Hawkhurst Parish is mostly in the Lathe of Scrag (Kent), where the whole is entered.—(g) Roterbridge or Roberts-Bridge is in Salehurst Parish.—(h) Sixty-four families, out of eighty-four employed in agriculture at Hooe, receive parochial relief.—(i) The increasing cultivation of hops has caused an increase of Population at Rye, and in the neighbouring Parishes.

(a) The Return of East-Blatchington must have been very erroneous in 1811, if the Inhabitants were then really no more than 147 (as stated in the present Return) but it is probable that the wives and families of soldiers then in the barracks, swelled the number to 362; and this is the more probable, from the females appearing to be two to one at that time.—(b) The entire Parish of Hartfield contains 1,440 Inhabitants. The number of Houses is the same as in 1811; but the increase of Inhabitants is 100.—(c) At Withyham more land is under culture than in 1811, and many cottages have been built.—(d) Lamberhurst Parish is partly in the Lathe of Aylesford (Kent). The entire Parish contains 1,925 Inhabitants.—(e) St. Thomas in-the-Cliff (part of Ringmer Hundred) is entered with Lewes at the end of the county.—(f) Stammer is locally situate in the Rape of Lewes. Much employment is afforded at Stammer by the Earl of Chichester.—(g) The Town called Tonbridge Wells is partly in the Parish of Tonbridge, partly in that of Speldhurst (Lathe of Aylesford, Kent) and partly in Frant Parish, which extends into that county.—(h) The two houses and families subjoined to the Return of Rotherfield Parish, dwell on the boundary line, and not being returned with Mayfield Parish are thus included.—(i) The impunity of bastardy is complained of at Maresfield.—(j) An extensive Common has been inclosed at Waldron.

(k) The entire Parish of St. Pancras contains 1,058 Inhabitants. One male upwards of 100 years of age in this Parish.—(l) The entire Parish of St. Peter-the-Great contains 3,766 Inhabitants.—(m) The Parishes of St.-John-Baptist-Southover, and of St.-Thomas-in-the-Cliff are not within the jurisdiction of the Borough of Lewes, but form part of the Town. The Boundary of the Extra-Parochial Precinct of the Castle has been minutely ascertained since 1801, and restricted to four houses.—(n) The Return of the Parish of St.-John-under-the-Castle includes the Inmates of the House of Correction. The number of inhabited Houses in this Parish is greatly increased since 1811, and the Population in like proportion. This Parish extends into Swanborough Hundred.—(o) The Return of the Parish of St. Peter and St. Mary (always called St. Ann's) included, in 1811, the Wives and Families of the Soldiery then quartered in the Barracks, since demolished.—(p) The Population of Brightelmstone, in 1811, was 12,012; so it has more than doubled in ten years, chiefly from this Town being the occasional residence of His Majesty.

THE Total Number of Persons in the County of Sussex was . . . 233,019, . . . and the Number of Persons whose Ages were returned, was . . . 207,492, . . . whence it appears, that the Ages of about one-ninth of the Persons therein enumerated, have not been obtained in compliance with the question to that effect.

The Total Number of Enumeration Returns received from the County of Sussex was 329; eight of which did not contain an answer to the question concerning Ages, and are thus marked (+): among which is the town of BRIGHTHELMSTONE. A very small proportion of the Returns of Ages in this County, were somewhat deficient, or redundant,—or incorrect in the respective numbers of Males and Females.

(*) Arrow Parish is partly in Stratford Division of Barlichway Hundred. The entire Parish contains 501 Inhabitants.—(b) The entire Parish of Coughton contains 926 Inhabitants.—(c) One male upwards of 100 years of age in the Parish of Ipsley.—(d) Most part of Tardebigg Parish is in Halfshire Hundred (Upper Division) County of Worcester. The entire Parish contains 3,458 Inhabitants.—(e) Most part of Weston-upon-Avon Parish is in Kittgate Hundred, (Upper Division) County of Gloucester. The entire Parish contains 107 Inhabitants.—

(f) The entire Parish of Claverdon contains 683 Inhabitants.—(g) The entire Parish of Wootton-Waven contains 2,248 Inhabitants. The increase of Population in the Hamlet of Henley-in-Arden "may partly be attributed to omissions in the former Return." The stoppage of a large paper mill has caused a decrease of Population in the Wootton-Waven part of the Parish.—(h) The entire Parish of Hatton contains 806 Inhabitants.

(*) Church Bickenhill Parish includes Lyndon and Marston Quarters.

() The entire Parish of Hampton-in-Arden contains 2,772 Inhabitants. — () The increase of Population in Meriden Parish is attributed to the establishment of a school, and an addition to the numbers in the house of industry, since 1811. — () One female upwards of 100 years of age at Solihull. — () Tamworth Parish is partly in North Offlow, but mostly in South Offlow Hundred, County of Stafford. The increase of Population is attributable to vaccination, and to the better mode of preserving health. The entire Parish contains 7,285 Inhabitants. The Township of Bolehall and Glascoate form a small part of some of the streets in the Borough of Tamworth. The increase of Population in the Hamlet of Wilnecote is chiefly owing to the establishment of collieries and brick and lime kilns. — () The decrease of Population in the Parish of Idlicote is accounted for by the mansion-house and a farm-house being unoccupied at this time, which were inhabited in 1811. — () The increase of Population in Long-Compton Parish is attributed to nearly all the poor belonging to the Parish having been brought home by orders of removals. — () Stretton-on-the-Foss is separated from the rest of Brails Division, by a part of Worcestershire. — () The entire Parish of Whichford contains 583 Inhabitants. — (*) The entire Parish of Wolford contains 529 Inhabitants.

(*) Most part of Wolston Parish is in the Rugby Division of Knightlow Hundred. — (†) The entire Parish of Clifton contains 612 Inhabitants.

(‡) The entire Parish of Dunchurch contains 1,251 Inhabitants.

(§) Newbold-upon-Avon Parish includes the Hamlet of Little-Harborough, which Hamlet is in Great-Harborough Parish, Kirby Division. The entire Parish of Newbold Avon contains something less than 668 Inhabitants. Many houses have been built upon the waste land at Long-Lawford. — (¶) The increase of Population in the Parish of Rugby, is ascribed to the flourishing state of the school. — (b) Wolston Parish is partly in the Kirby Division of Knightlow Hundred. The entire Parish contains 641 Inhabitants. — (c) Hydes-Pastures Hamlet is included in the return of Hincley, Sparkenhoe Hundred, County of Leicester.

(d) The decrease of Population in the Parish of Leamington-Hastings, is attributed to several large families having left the Parish, and their places supplied by smaller families.

(c) Birmingham consists of the Parishes of St. Martin and St. Philip.
 (°) Aston Parish includes the Chapelry of Deritend.—(°) Holy Trinity Parish is partly in Kirby Division, Knightlow Hundred. The increase of Population is ascribed to the increase of trade a few years ago, and to a number of labourers coming to reside in the Parish from adjoining Parishes and Hamlets, in consequence of the cottages in those places having been taken down. The entire Parish of The Holy-Trinity contains 7,058 Inhabitants, including as part of it the Hamlet of Camden, Kirby Division of Knightlow Hundred.—(h) The entire Parish of St. John-Baptist, with St.-Michael, contains 15,089 Inhabitants, including Radford. Most part of St. Michael's Parish is in the City of Coventry.—(°) Sow Parish is partly in Kirby Division, Knightlow Hundred. The increase of Population is attributed to a colliery and to the ribbon-trade. Thirty-three of the families in the third column of Occupations are coal-miners and boat-men. The entire Parish of Sow contains 1,212 Inhabitants.—(k) The increase of population in the Borough of WARWICK is attributed to the increase of factories and other buildings.

THE Total Number of Persons in the County of Warwick was . . . 274,392, . . . and the Number of Persons whose Ages were returned, was . . . 169,611 . . . whence it appears, that the Ages of more than one-third of the Persons therein enumerated, have not been obtained in compliance with the question to that effect.

The Total Number of Enumeration Returns received from the County of Warwick was 265; two of which (from the Town of Birmingham and the adjoining Parish of Aston) did not contain any answer to the question concerning the Ages of Persons, and are thus marked, (-): a remarkably small proportion of the Returns of Ages were somewhat deficient, or redundant,—or incorrect in the respective numbers of Males and Females.

(1) The entire Parish of Beetham contains 1,618 Inhabitants.—

(m) Burton-in-Kendal Parish is mostly in Lonsdale Ward, and partly in the Hundred of South Lonsdale (Lancashire). The Township of Homescales, part of this Parish, is returned with Old Hutton, in Kirkby-Kendal Parish.—(n) The entire Parish of Grasmere contains 1,778 Inhabitants. Ambleside Township extends into Windermere Parish.—(o) The entire Parish of Heversham contains 3,996 Inhabitants. Levens Township extends into Kendal Parish.—(p) The entire Parish of Kendal, which is partly in Lonsdale Ward, contains 17,417 Inhabitants; of these the Town of Kirkby-Kendal, which is entered at the end of the county, contains 8,984 Inhabitants. The Township of Fawcett-Forest extends into the Parish of Orton (East Ward), and into the Parish of Shap (West Ward). The Return of Winstor Chapelry is included in that of Undermilbeck (Windermere Parish: q) these two places are united in the maintenance of the poor. The Township of Kirkland adjoins the Town of Kendal, and is greatly burthened with poor-rates. The apparent increase of Population in Selside and Whitwell Township arises from labourers employed in making a road. The inclosure of a common in Strickland-Kettle Township, the like at Underbarrow, and employment at a manufactory in Strickland-Roger Township, are stated as causes of increased Population.—(q) The entire Parish of Windermere contains 1,441 Inhabitants. Ambleside Township, which is partly in Windermere Parish and partly in that of Grasmere, is wholly entered in the latter.

THE Total Number of Persons in the County of Worcester was . . . 184,424 . . . and the Number of Persons whose Ages were returned, was . . . 165,360 . . . whence it appears, that the Ages of one-tenth part of the Persons therein enumerated, have not been obtained in compliance with the question to that effect.

The Total Number of Enumeration Returns received from the County of Worcester was 247; five of which did not contain any answer to the question concerning the Ages of Persons, and are marked thus (→); and a small proportion of the Returns of Ages were somewhat deficient, or redundant,—or incorrect in the respective numbers of Males and Females.

THE Total Number of Persons in the North Riding of the County of York was 183,694. . . . and the Number of Persons whose Ages were returned, was 145,480 whence it appears, that the Ages of more than one-fifth part of the Persons therein enumerated, have not been obtained in compliance with the question to that effect.

The Total Number of Enumeration Returns received from the North Riding of the County of York was 533; twenty-six of which (including Scarborough, Richmond, and Whitby) did not contain any answer to the question concerning the Ages of Persons, and are thus marked, (-): and a small proportion of the Returns of Ages were somewhat deficient, or redundant,—or incorrect in the respective numbers of Males and Females.

THE Total Number of Persons in the West Riding of the County of York was . . . 799,357, . . . and the Number of Persons whose Ages were returned, was . . . 686,208, . . . whence it appears, that the Ages of more than one-seventh part of the Persons therein enumerated, have not been obtained in compliance with the question to that effect.

The Total Number of Enumeration Returns received from the West Riding of the County of York was 668; thirty-four of which (including those of the Town of Leeds) did not contain any answer to the question concerning Ages, and are thus marked (+): a small proportion of the Returns of Ages were somewhat deficient, or redundant,—or incorrect in the respective numbers of Males and Females.

(a) The Parishes or Parochial Chaperies of Bodedern, Bodwrog, and Llandrygarn (with Gwndy) are deemed to be, or formerly to have been, within the Parish of Holyhead, which is partly in Llyfon, partly in Tal-y-bolion Hundred, but is entered at the end of the County.—

(b) Ceirchiog, Llanfaleg, and Llechylched, in Llanbeulan Parish.—(c) Llanllibio, Llechwys-fawrwydd, and Rhodogedidio (Menai Hundred) in Llantrisant Parish.—(d) Llanynghenedle and Llanfiegel (Tal-y-bolion Hundred) in Llanfihangel Parish.—(e) Llanfair-yn-eubwll and Llanfihangel-yn-howyndy, in Rhoscolyn Parish (see Menai Hundred).—(f) Trewalchmai, in Heneglwys Parish.—(g) Llangwysfan in Trefdraeth Parish.

The subjoined Notes of a different kind, are severally referred to by the same marks of reference as above.

(b) Llanbeulan Parish is partly in Malltraeth Hundred, but the whole is entered in Llyfon Hundred.—(c) Llantrisant Parish is partly in Menai Hundred. The entire Parish contains 979 Inhabitants.—(d) Rhoscolyn Parish is partly in Menai Hundred. The entire Parish contains 1,024 Inhabitants.—(f) Most part of Trewalchmai is in Malltraeth Hundred; the Church is in Llyfon Hundred. The increase of population is attributed to the building of many cottages since 1811. The entire Parish contains 670 Inhabitants.—(h) Aberffraw Parish is partly in Menai Hundred, but the whole is here entered. The increase of population is ascribed to the cessation of war.—(i) Llanbeulan Parish is partly in Llyfon Hundred, and there wholly entered.—(j) The increase of Population in Trefdraeth Parish is attributed to the erecting of new buildings on the inclosure of the Malltraeth Marsh.—(l) Tregayan Parish is partly in Menai Hundred, and there wholly entered.—(f) Trewalchmai Parish is partly in Llyfon Hundred.—(h) Aberffraw Parish is wholly entered in Malltraeth Hundred.—(j) The increase of 145 persons in the Parish of Llanfihangel-Esceifiog is attributed to the establishment of a colliery, and improvement in agriculture.

THE Total Number of Persons in the County of Anglesey was . . . 45,063, . . . and the Number of Persons whose Ages were returned, was . . . 43,715, . . . whence it appears, that the Ages of one thirty-third part of the Persons therein enumerated, have not been obtained in compliance with the question to that effect.

The Total Number of Enumeration Returns received from the County of Anglesey was 76; two of which did not contain any answer to the question concerning Ages, and are thus marked (+): and a small proportion of the Returns of Ages were somewhat deficient, or redundant,—or incorrect in the respective numbers of Males and Females; but the appearance of inaccuracy chiefly arises from Parishes extending into more than one Hundred, but not so distinguished in the Return of Ages.

THE Total Number of Persons in the County of Brecon was . . . 43,613, . . . and the Number of Persons whose Ages were returned, was . . . 42,904, . . . whence it appears, that the Ages of almost all the Persons therein enumerated, have been obtained in compliance with the question to that effect.

The Total Number of Enumeration Returns received from the County of Brecon was 120; two of which did not contain any answer to the question concerning the Ages of Persons, and are thus marked (→): and a small proportion of the Returns of Ages were somewhat deficient, or redundant,—or incorrect in the respective numbers of Males and Females.

THE Total Number of Persons in the County of Cardigan was . . . 57,784, . . . and the Number of Persons whose Ages were returned, was . . . 57,745, . . . whence it appears, that the Ages of almost all the Persons therein enumerated, have been obtained in compliance with the question to that effect.

The Total Number of Enumeration Returns received from the County of Cardigan was 109; every one of which contained an answer to the question concerning the Ages of Persons. A small proportion of the Returns of Ages were somewhat deficient, or redundant,—or incorrect in the respective Numbers of Males and Females.

(b) The Parishes of Bryn-croes and Meylltyn (see Commitman Hundred.) Llan-istyn and Llan-nor (see Creuddyn Hundred.)—

(1) The increase of Population in Denio and Pwllheli, is attributed to the building of houses, and other improvements in the town and neighbourhood, and to its vicinity to the sea.—(m) Most part of Llan-engan Parish is in Commitman Hundred, and entered accordingly.—(n) The increase of Population in the Parish of Llan-gian, is attributed to the inclosing of a common, and to the building of several cottages.—

(o) Most part of Eglwys-Fach Parish is in Isdulas Hundred, County of Denbigh. The entire Parish contains 1,517 Inhabitants.—(p) The entire Parish of Llanbedr-y-cennin contains 476 Inhabitants.—

(q) Llan-beblig Parish includes the Townships of Bont-Newydd and Treflan. The increase of Population is attributed to the increased and increasing trade of the place.—(r) The Inhabitants of Llan-beris occupying small grazing farms, most of the men, and boys above 12 years of age, are employed in the slate quarries and copper mines, of which there are a great number in this and the neighbouring Parishes. The farms are, in general, from 10 l. to 30 l. and 40 l.; and the women and children take care of the sheep and cattle, while their husbands, sons and brothers are at work in the quarries and mines.—(s) The 29 families in the third column of Occupations in Llan-rug Parish, are quarrymen.—(t) Most part of Llan-rwst Parish is in Isdulas Hundred, County of Denbigh. The entire Parish contains 2,639 Inhabitants.—(u) Most part of Ysppyty-Evan Parish is in Isled Hundred, County of Denbigh. The entire Parish contains 779 Inhabitants.

(*) One female upwards of 100 years of age in the Parish of Aber.
 —(x) The increase of Population in the Parish of Llan-degai is ascribed to the increasing trade at Port Pen-Rhyn, and to the slate quarries. The same observation applies to the Parish of Llan-llechid. Llan-degai includes the Chapelry of Capel-Curig.—(y) Most part of Beddgelert Parish is in the Hundred of Evionydd, where the whole is entered.—(z) The entire Parish of Llan-dwrog contains 1,749 Inhabitants.—(a) The large increase of Population (1,196 persons) in the City of Bangor is attributable to road-making, and the bridge over the Menai Strait, now in progress.

(u) The increase of Population in the Parish of Abergele is attributed to the building of a number of houses since 1811.—(v) Most part of St. Asaph Parish is in Rhuddlan Hundred, Flintshire; and for an account of the Townships, of which the Parish consists, see the note there. It is partly in Isdulas Hundred, and extends into Yale Hundred, Denbighshire. The entire Parish contains 2,755 Inhabitants.—(w) Eglwys-fach Parish is partly in Isaf Hundred, County of Carnarvon. The entire Parish contains 517 Inhabitants.—(x) Llan-drillo-yn-Rhôs Parish is partly in Creuddyn Hundred, County of Carnarvon. The entire Parish contains 963 Inhabitants.—(y) A small portion of Llan-rwst Parish is in Nant-Conway Hundred, County of Carnarvon. The entire Parish contains 2,639 Inhabitants.—(z) Nannerch Parish partly in Ruthin Hundred, partly in Rhuddlan Hundred, Flintshire, is wholly entered in the latter.—(z) Bodfary Parish is partly in Rhuddlan Hundred, Flintshire. The entire Parish contains 845 Inhabitants.—(z) The entire Parish of Clocaenog contains 462 Inhabitants.—(c) The increase of Population in the Parish of Llan-gwylfan, is ascribed to an excellent dispensary at Denbigh, to which many largely contribute, and from whence medicine is amply afforded to the sick, and vaccination to the young.

THE Total Number of Persons in the County of Denbigh was . . . 76,511, . . . and the Number of Persons whose Ages were returned, was . . . 75,063, . . . whence it appears, that the Ages of about one-fiftieth part of the Persons therein enumerated, have not been obtained in compliance with the question to that effect.

The Total Number of Enumeration Returns received from the County of Denbigh was 108; three of which did not contain any answer to the question concerning Ages, and are thus marked (+): a small proportion of the Returns of Ages were somewhat deficient, or redundant,—or incorrect in the respective numbers of Males and Females.

(*) The Townships of Cefn, Llan, Llysdan, Llys-y-coed, Maes-y-gros, Michlas and Tullymin form the Parish of Cilcen. These Townships were not distinctly returned in 1801, or 1811. The entire Parish contains 2,729 Inhabitants.—(b) Flint is said to be a Township and Chapelry, in the Parish of Northop. The increase of population is attributed to the collieries having been more extensively worked than in former years.—(c) The entire Parish of Halkin contains 1,842 Inhabitants.—(d) The increase of population in the Parish of Northop is attributed to the lead mines at Caer-fallwch, and to the fisheries at Golfryn and Wepre. The entire Parish contains 2,894 Inhabitants.—(e) The Return of Whitford Parish includes the Townships of Bychton, Eden Owain Merton, Is Glan, Merton Uwch Glan, Mostyn, Tre Lan Tre'r Abbot, and Whitford Garn.—(f) Bangor Parish is partly in Bromfield Hundred, Denbigh. The entire Parish contains 1,338 Inhabitants.—(g) Doddleston Parish is partly in Lower Broxton Hundred, Chester; and Higher-Kinnerton, though locally situate in Maylor Hundred (County of Flint,) is in that Parish. The whole Parish consists of three Townships; Doddleston and Lower Kinnerton, in the County of Chester, and Higher Kinnerton in the County of Flint. The Return of 1811 erroneously placed Higher Kinnerton in the Parish of Hope.—(h) Ellesmere Parish is mostly in Pimhill Hundred, Salop. The entire Parish contains 6,561 Inhabitants.—(i) Erbistock is partly in the Hundred of Ercowfield, Denbigh; but the whole is here entered.—(k) The entire Parish of Hammer contains 2,771 Inhabitants.—(l) Malpas Parish is mostly in Broxton Hundred, Cheshire. Iscoyd Township extends into Bromfield Hundred, Denbigh. The entire Parish contains 5,426 Inhabitants.—(m) Since the year 1811, a chapel has been built upon the extra-parochial common of Threapwood, and endowed. This place is said to be in the Counties of Chester and Flint.—(n) Wrexham Parish is mostly in Bromfield Hundred, Denbigh. The entire Parish contains 11,081 Inhabitants.

THE Total Number of Persons in the County of Flint was 53,784, and the Number of Persons whose Ages were returned, was 48,897, whence it appears that the Ages of about one-eleventh part of the Persons therein enumerated, have not been obtained in compliance with the question to that effect.

The Total Number of Enumeration Returns received from the County of Flint was 68; four of which did not contain any answer to the question concerning the Ages of Persons, and are thus marked (-); and a small proportion of the Returns of Ages were somewhat deficient or redundant,—or incorrect in the respective Numbers of Males and Females.

THE Total Number of Persons in the County of Montgomery was . . . 59,899. . . and the Number of Persons whose Ages were returned, was . . . 56,653. . . whence it appears, that the Ages of one-eighteenth part of the Persons therein enumerated, have not been obtained in compliance with the question to that effect.

The Total Number of Enumeration Returns received from the County of Montgomery was 92; three of which did not contain any answer to the question concerning the Ages of Persons, and are thus marked (-): and a small proportion of the Returns of Ages were somewhat deficient, or redundant,—or incorrect in the respective numbers of Males and Females.

THE Total Number of Persons in the County of Pembroke was . . . 74,009, . . . and the Number of Persons whose Ages were returned, was . . . 74,023 . . . whence it appears, that the Ages of all the Persons therein enumerated, have been obtained in compliance with the question to that effect.

The Total Number of Enumeration Returns received from the County of Pembroke was 158; every one of which contained an answer to the question concerning the Ages of Persons. A very small proportion of the Returns of Ages were somewhat deficient, or redundant, (the balance on the side of the latter being 14;) and a few Returns were incorrect in the respective numbers of Males and Females.

THE Total Number of Persons in the County of Radnor was . . . 22,459, . . . and the Number of Persons whose Ages were returned, was . . . 22,503, . . . whence it appears, that the Ages of all the Persons therein enumerated, have been obtained in compliance with the question to that effect.

The Total Number of Enumeration Returns received from the County of Radnor was 75; every one of which contained an answer to the question concerning the Ages of Persons. A very small proportion of the Returns of Ages were somewhat deficient or redundant (the balance on the side of the latter, being 44); and a few Returns were incorrect in the respective Numbers of Males and Females.

IN the 27th Hen. VIII. c. 26 (A.D. 1535.) an Act was passed "for Laws and Justice to be ministered in Wales in like form as it is "in this Realm."

By this Act, the Marches or intermediate Border Lands between England and Wales were divided into new Counties, or annexed to old Counties. The new Counties were, MONMOUTH, which became an English County; BRECON, DENBIGH, MONTGOMERY, and RADNOR, in Wales: The English Counties augmented by annexations were Gloucester, Hereford, and Salop; the Welsh Counties so augmented, were Cardigan, Carmarthen, Glamorgan, Merioneth, and Pembroke.

By the same Act, the Chancellor of England is directed to issue a Commission under the Great Seal, to such persons as to him shall be thought convenient, to enquire and view all the said Shires of Carmarthen, Pembroke, Cardigan, Monmouth, Brecon, Radnor, Montgomery, Glamorgan, and Denbigh; and thereupon to divide them and every of them into so many Hundreds as they shall think most meet and convenient, and the said Hundreds shall certify into the High Court of Chancery; which Hundreds (after the said Certificate) shall be used and taken as other Hundreds be in every other Shire within the Realm of England.

By a subsequent Act of 28th Hen. VIII. c. 3. Three years are allowed for correction of the Allotment of Places to the several Shires; and by Act of 31st Hen. VIII. c. 11. Three years further are allowed.

Under the above Commission, and another Commission for enquiry into the Welsh Laws and Customs, certain Ordinances were framed, which were afterwards confirmed; as appears at the end of the Acts of 34th & 35th Hen. VIII. where they are entered as an Act of Parliament.

(a) The entire Parish of St. Nicholas, Aberdeen, contains 26,484 Inhabitants; and adjoining to this Parish, northward, is the Parish of Old Machar (containing the old City of Aberdeen), the population of which Parish being 18,312, produces a total of 44,796 Persons resident in Aberdeen.—(b) Banchory Parish is mostly in the Shire of Kincardine, and entered accordingly.—(c) Drumoak Parish is partly in the Shire of Kincardine. The entire Parish contains 756 Inhabitants.—(d) The entire Parish of New-Machar contains 1,133 Inhabitants. Straloch-Lands are rated in the Cess-books, and pay Land-tax in the County of Banff. The increase of Population in this Parish is ascribed to the subdivision of land.—(e) In the Parish of Old-Machar are contained the principal additions which have of late years been made to the City or Burgh of Aberdeen. It contains likewise several extensive cotton and other manufactories, some of which have been increased since 1811; and also to the City of Old Aberdeen, the Population of which is 1,483. The present enumeration contains 22 males and 4 females now in Jail; 34 males and 8 females in the House of Correction; and 37 males and 47 females in two Lunatic Asylums, all situate in this Parish.—(f) The increase of Population in the Parish of Newhills arises from the extension of stone-quarries, and of paper and other manufactories connected with those of the City of Aberdeen.—(g) Cabrach Parish is mostly in the Shire of Banff. The church is situate in Aberdeenshire.—(h) One male in Clatt Parish upwards of 100 years of age.—(i) The prosperity of agriculture before the late depression, is mentioned as a cause of the increased Population of the Parish of Lochell-Cushnie.—(j) The Population of the Parish of Tough, has been increased by the settlement of families on Crofts or Pendicles of Farms.—(k) One female in Aberdour Parish upwards of 100 years of age.—(l) Old-Deer Parish is partly in the Shire of Banff. The entire Parish contains 4,841 Inhabitants.—(m) St. Fergus is locally situate on the coast of Aberdeen, but belongs to the Shire of Banff, and is there entered.—(n) One male in Fraserburgh Parish upwards of 100 years of age.—(o) The decrease of Population is ascribed to the enlargement of farms.

(*) The entire Parish of Peterhead contains 6,313 Inhabitants. The increase of Population in ten years appears to have been 1,665; but in 1811, 300 men serving in the Militia were not included. This reduces the increase to 1,365, which has been occasioned partly by the harbour improvements and the numerous stone-quarries opened in the neighbourhood, but chiefly by the additional shipping employed in the Whale Fishery, and otherwise.—(†) The Parish of Pitsligo adjoins that of Fraserburgh, with a doubtful boundary, by which a few families are perhaps erroneously ascribed to Fraserburgh Parish.—(‡) Fraser of Lovat is building a large mansion-house at Strichen, which causes a temporary increase of Population.—(§) The entire Parish of Tyrie contains 1,584 Inhabitants.—(¶) The families of Fishermen at Cruden are included in the second column of Occupations.—(||) One male in Ellon Parish, and one in Foveran Parish, upwards of 100 years of age.—(⌘) In the Parish of Tarves, small crofts of land are now let to labourers and others for their accommodation.—(⌘) A new church at Udny, now in progress, causes a temporary increase of Population.—(⌘) One male in Daviot Parish upwards of 100 years of age.—(⌘) The slate-quarries in the Parish of Insch have caused an increase of Population.—(⌘) The entire Parish of Inverury contains 1,129 Inhabitants. The increase is attributable to a cattle market and to a canal.—(⌘) Land, heretofore uncultivated, has been improved in the Parish of Kemnay, which has caused an increase of Population. The same remark applies to Old Meldrum.—(⌘) The entire Parish of Kintore contains 1,057 Inhabitants. One female in this Parish upwards of 100 years of age.—(⌘) One female in Oyne Parish upwards of 100 years of age. A quarry has been opened in this Parish.—(⌘) One male in Aboyne Parish upwards of 100 years of age.

THE Total Number of Persons in the Shire of Aberdeen was . . . 155,387, . . . and the Number of Persons whose Ages were returned, was . . . 148,841 . . . whence it appears, that the Ages of one twenty-fourth part of the Persons therein enumerated, have not been obtained in compliance with the question to that effect.

The Total Number of Enumeration Returns received from the Shire of Aberdeen was 93; one of which did not contain any answer to the question concerning Ages, and is thus marked (-): a small proportion of the Returns of Ages were somewhat deficient, or redundant—or incorrect in the respective Numbers of Males and Females.

(c) See Note on preceding page.—(d) The cotton manufacture has increased at Hoddam, so that the Inhabitants are increased notwithstanding emigration.—(e) The cheapness of fuel in the Parish of Kirkmichael encourages settlement and increases the population.—(f) The population of the Parish of Sanquhar has greatly increased since 1811, which is ascribed to the flourishing state of the mines and collieries, and to the increase of the cotton manufacture; but a check has been experienced in building and agricultural improvements, from the disputed leases on the Queensbury Estates. The entire Parish contains 3,026 Inhabitants.—(g) The increase of population in the Parish of Torthorwald is attributed to granting leases of small portions of land, with plenty of moss fuel.

(*) The increase of Population in the Parish of Collington is attributable to the flourishing state of the paper manufactory; to snuff mills and corn mills, erected since 1811; to the bleach-field at Lugles-Green; and the freestone quarries, which have increased, for the purpose of building at Edinburgh. — (b) Cramond Parish is partly in the Shire of Linlithgow. The entire Parish contains 1,804 Inhabitants. — (c) The Union Canal, and the flourishing state of the paper-manufactory have increased the Population of the Parish of Currie. — (d) One female in Dalkeith Parish upwards of 100 years of age. — (e) The entire Parish of Duddingston contains 3,089 Inhabitants. Portobello is become a fashionable resort for sea-bathing, and a variety of manufactures flourish there. — (f) Fala Parish is partly in the Shire of Haddington. The entire Parish contains 405 Inhabitants. — (g) Public works, for the supply of Edinburgh with water, are in progress, in the Parish of Glencross. — (h) Kirkliston Parish is mostly in the Shire of Linlithgow. The entire Parish contains 2,213 Inhabitants. — (i) The increase of collieries is mentioned in the Returns made from Newbattle, Newton, and Temple Parishes. — (k) One female in Ratho Parish upwards of 100 years of age. — (l) It is mentioned on the Return from the Parish of Stow, that labouring men, fed and lodged in the farm-houses, have increased since 1811: in all other places, this class of farm-servants, when noticed, is said to have decreased, and agricultural Population to have increased, from their becoming married cottagers. — (m) The Return of New Grey Friars Parish includes 189 males and 365 females in a charity workhouse. — (n) The Return of Lady-Yesters Parish includes 100 males, and 123 females in the Royal Infirmary.

(*) Abernethy Parish is partly in Inverness-shire. The entire Parish contains 1,968 Inhabitants. The increase is attributable to the fir timber, which is cut and sold in greater quantity than heretofore.—

(b) Bellie Parish is partly in Banffshire. The entire Parish contains 2,235 Inhabitants.—(c) Boharm Parish is mostly in Banffshire. The entire Parish contains 1,206 Inhabitants.—(d) Cromdale Parish is mostly in Inverness-shire. The entire Parish contains 2,897 Inhabitants.—

(e) A new village of 30 families has arisen in the Parish of Dallas.—

(f) Lossiemouth, in the Parish of Drainy, is a fashionable bathing-place; and the fishery is improved since 1806.—(g) Three new villages have been established in the Parish of Duffus, and Burgh-head has been almost wholly rebuilt.—(h) Duthel Parish is partly in Inverness-shire. The entire Parish contains 1,739 Inhabitants.—(i) At Edinkillie, 40

old unmarried women are said to subsist each on one shilling per week, and out of this to pay a fourth-part for the stance (or ground rent) of their huts.—(k) An increasing academy has been established in the Town of Elgin; and road-making and drainage furnish employment in the country part of the Parish.—(l) The almost universal influx of inhabitants from the country into towns, is mentioned on the return of Forres, as a cause of the increase of Population at that place.—

(m) Grantown is included in the return of Cromdale Parish (Inverness).—(n) Inveraven Parish is mostly in Banffshire. The entire Parish contains 2,481 Inhabitants.—(o) Of the Population of Rothies, 776 Persons inhabit the village.—(p) One male in Spynie Parish upwards of 100 years of age.

THE Total Number of Persons in the Shire of Elgin was . . . 31,162, . . . and the Number of Persons whose Ages were returned was . . . 30,784, . . . whence it appears, that the Ages of one eighty-second part of the Persons therein enumerated, have not been obtained in compliance with the question to that effect.

The Total Number of Enumeration Returns received from the Shire of Elgin was 23; one of which did not contain any answer to the question concerning Ages, and is thus marked (-): a small proportion of the Returns of Ages were somewhat deficient or redundant,—or incorrect in the respective Numbers of Males and Females.

(*) The increase of the sail-cloth and linen manufactures, accounts for the increase of population at Arbroath. Including the town part of the Parish of St. Vigeans, Arbroath contains 8,972 Inhabitants.—

(b) Alyth Parish is mostly in Perthshire. The entire Parish contains 2,569 Inhabitants.—

(c) One female in Brechin Parish upwards of 100 years of age.—

(d) In the Parish of Craig, the fishery at Ferryden has much increased.—

(e) Cupar-Angus Parish is mostly in Perthshire. The entire Parish contains 2,622 Inhabitants.—

(f) In the Parish of Dun many cotters houses (cottages) have been demolished, whence a decrease of population.—

(g) In the Parish of Dunnichen, the village of Letham has greatly increased.—

(h) Edzell Parish is partly in Kincardineshire. The entire Parish contains 1,043 Inhabitants.—

(i) More land is now under lease at Inverarity than was so in 1811.—

(k) One male in Lethnot and Navar Parish upwards of 100 years of age.—

(l) The Parish of Lundie is united to that of Easter-Fowls in the Shire of Perth.—

(m) In the Parish of Monifieth the village of Broughty Ferry has much increased from fishing, and the prosperous condition of the spinning trade. Other villages in this Parish are Drumsturdy Muir, and East-Ferry.

(*) The Return of Avendale Parish includes the Town of Strathaven.

(b) New cotton works are mentioned at Blantyre, and many other places in this Shire.—(c) Emigration from Cambuslang has only made room for other Inhabitants.—(d) The Town of Airdrie (a Burgh of Barony) in the Parish of New Monkland, contains 4,866 persons, the rest of the Parish, 2,502.—(e) Catcart Parish is mostly in Renfrewshire. The entire Parish contains 2,056 Inhabitants. Part of this Parish was erroneously included in the Return of Carmunnock Parish in 1811.

(f) Govan Parish is partly in Renfrewshire. The entire Parish contains 19,170 Inhabitants, if taken according to its ancient boundary; but the greatest part of it is now added to Gorbals Parish, forming a Suburb of Glasgow. Including the Renfrew part of the Parish, the Inhabitants are now, 4,325. One female in this Parish upwards of 100 years of age.—(g) The Return of Carwoath Parish includes the Town of Wilsontown. The Population is much decreased, extensive public works at Wilsontown and Climpie, having been discontinued.—(h) The miners at Lead-Hills, in the Parish of Crawford, have increased since 1811.—(i) The Population of the Parish of Dunsyre has decreased since 1811, many small farms having been thrown together since that time.—(k) The increase of Population in the Parish of Lanark, arises partly from persons employed on a new bridge at Carlisle Craigs, and on new roads; besides which, it is remarked that 400 children belonging to a public work, were omitted by mistake in 1811.

(1) THE following Certificate was attached to the Abstract of the Enumeration of the City of Glasgow, and its Suburbs.

"I Certify, that the Parochial Officers have made oath, that the above is a faithful Return of the number of Inhabitants in their respective Parishes; (two additional Churches having been built since 1811, the Population is now divided into twelve, instead of ten Parishes.) The classification and calculations have been made by me, from which I have drawn the following results:—Since 1811, the increase of the Inhabitants has been 46,294; this number is to be accounted for, from the great increase of trade and manufactures during the war, and for some time after its termination. Of late years, there has been a falling off of the Population, arising chiefly from emigration and the want of employment. From the year 1812 to 1817, the houses were nearly all occupied; whereas, at present, there are 1,917 un-occupied houses, (not tenements) calculated to accommodate 8,818 persons. The average number of persons in each family is 4 and $\frac{601}{1000}$; Children under ten years of age, are equal to $\frac{1}{5}$ and $\frac{11}{1000}$, of the whole Population; persons under twenty years of age, are equal to $\frac{1}{5}$ and $\frac{61}{1000}$, of the whole Population; persons under thirty years of age, are equal to $\frac{1}{5}$ and $\frac{11}{1000}$, of the whole Population. For every apartment, there are two persons to occupy it.

(Signed) "James Cleland,
"Superintendent of Public Works for the City."

It would be unjust not to mention in this place, that Mr. Cleland has transmitted printed documents, containing very numerous and very useful statistical details concerning the City and Suburbs of Glasgow; and that the example has produced imitation in some other of the principal towns of Scotland, though not to the same extent of minute investigation, by which Mr. Cleland's labours are distinguished.

(M) Two females in St. Enoch Parish, upwards of 100 years of age.

(N) One female in St. John's Parish, upwards of 100 years of age.

(O) One female in Barony Parish, upwards of 100 years of age.

(P) One male and one female in Gorbals Parish, upwards of 100 years of age.

(*) In the Parish of Abercorn the increase of population is attributed to the Union Canal, and to improvements making by the Earl of Hoptoun and other heritors.—(b) The trade of Borrowstowness, especially the whale fishery, is increased since 1811.—(c) Cramond Parish is mostly in the Shire of Edinburgh. The entire Parish contains 1,804 Inhabitants.—(d) Kirkliston Parish is partly in Edinburghshire. The entire Parish contains 2,213 Inhabitants. The Parish church stands in the county of Linlithgow. The increase of population in this and other adjoining Parishes is partly attributed to the Union Canal, now in progress.—(e) The entire Parish of Linlithgow contains 4,692 Inhabitants.—(f) An increase of marriages is observed at Livingstone, in consequence of the low price of provisions, the rate of wages remaining stationary.—(g) The Burgh and Parish of Queensferry coincide, and although the herring fishery has failed, and the soap manufacture declined, and the works at the landing places have been completed, yet an increase of population is observable in Queensferry.—(h) The Union Canal and the Houston colliery have caused an increase of population in the Parish of Uphall.

(a) Calder Parish is partly in Inverness shire. The entire Parish contains 1,120 Inhabitants.—(b) Croy Parish is mostly in Inverness-shire. The entire Parish contains 1,538 Inhabitants. An improvement of moor land by pensioners and others, is mentioned as a cause of increased population.—(c) Moy and Dalarrsossie are partly in Inverness-shire. The entire Parish contains 1,332 Inhabitants. A few small farms having been thrown together, the population is therefore diminished.—

(d) The fishermen at Nairn are one-third more numerous than in 1811, and the depression of agriculture has driven many persons into the Burgh.—(e) Urquhart Parish is mostly in Ross-shire. The entire Parish contains 2,822 Inhabitants. The population of the Nairnshire part of the Parish has declined from the distress of the times, which is particularly felt here.

(a) What is called the Mainland, is the largest of the Orkney Isles, sometimes called Pomona. The arrangement of the Shire of Orkney in the Abstract of 1811, was not suitable to a County consisting wholly of Islands; the present arrangement was furnished by the Sheriff Substitute of Orkney.—(b) One female in St. Andrew's Parish upwards of 100 years of age.

(c) The mixed occupation of the Inhabitants of Aithsting and Sandsting, and of Brassy and Barra, has caused almost all the families to be ascribed to agriculture in the latter, to the fishery in the former. In the rest of Shetland, they are generally ascribed to agriculture. In some of the Orkney Islands, the same doubt has evidently had a like effect.

(d) The discovery of a cod-bank is mentioned in the Tingwall Return. The Returns of the Shetland Isles very generally ascribe part of the increase of Population to persons returned from the navy and army at the peace, and to the subdivision of land; besides which, the fishery is an inducement to early marriages.

(2) The Return of the Abbey Parish includes that part of it which is situated East of the River Cart, and from which a separate Return was received and entered in 1811. Rather more than half the Population of the Parish may be ascribed to the Town of Paisley, which is surrounded by the Abbey Parish. (a) Both Parish is mostly in Ayrshire (Cunningham District). The entire Parish contains 4,472 Inhabitants. (b) Cathcart Parish is partly in Lanarkshire. The entire Parish contains 2,066 Inhabitants. The increase of Population arises from its contiguity to Glasgow, and the fact that it is mostly in Ayrshire. (c) The entire Parish contains 1,097 Inhabitants. A cotton mill has been established at Eaglesham since 1811. (d) Most are in Eastwood Parish upwards of 100 years of age. (e) Govan Parish is mostly in Lanarkshire. The entire Parish contains 4,325 Inhabitants. (h) It appears, that in the Return of the West Parish of Greenock, nearly 500 seamen belonging to registered vessels, were included ; these have been deducted. The three Parishes together appear to contain 22,088 Inhabitants.—

(*) The extension of blanket and plaid manufacture is mentioned in the Return from Alva.—(b) The collieries are increased in the Parish of Bothkennar.—(c) The linen printfields have continued in a flourishing state at Campsie; also coal-works and lime-works; hence the great increase of Population.—(d) The entire Parish of Dunipace contains 1,168 Inhabitants. Milton is included in the Return of Meikle-Denovan.—(e) The works on the Union Canal have caused an increase of Population at Falkirk, in the Parish of Muiravonside, and in some other Parishes.—(f) The coal-works at Banton have caused an increase of Population in the Parish of Kilsyth.—(g) Kippen Parish is partly in the Shire of Perth. The entire Parish contains 2,029 Inhabitants.—(h) The apparent decrease of Population in the Parish of Larbert is supposed to arise from a defective Return in 1811, the Carron foundry and iron-works being situate in this Parish, and continuing in a flourishing state.—(i) Lecropt Parish is mostly in the Shire of Perth. The entire Parish contains 513 Inhabitants.—(k) Logie Parish is partly in the Shire of Clackmannan, partly in Perthshire. The entire Parish contains 2,015 Inhabitants.—(l) Stirling Parish is partly in the Shire of Clackmannan. The entire Parish contains 7,314 Inhabitants.

THE Total Number of Persons in the Shire of Stirling was . . . 65,376 . . . and the Number of Persons whose Ages were returned, was . . . 51,521, . . . whence it appears, that the Ages of nearly one-fifth part of the Persons therein enumerated, have not been obtained in compliance with the question to that effect.

The Total Number of Enumeration Returns received from the Shire of Stirling was 29; four of which did not contain any Answer to the question concerning Ages, and are thus marked (+): a small proportion of the Returns of Ages were somewhat deficient, or redundant, —or incorrect in the respective numbers of Males and Females.

(a) The entire Parish of Dornoch contains 3,100 Inhabitants. Many families have lately settled on improvable Moors; the same observation is applicable to the Parish of Creesh.—(b) Small tenants are said to have been removed, and sheep-farms established in the Parishes of Durness, Farr, Golspie, Kildonan, Lairg, and (in some degree) Rogart; but such transfer of Inhabitants has not prevented an increase of Population in the Shire of Sutherland generally.—(c) The Parish of Loth includes the fishing station of Helmsdale, where the Population is greatly increased.—(d) Reay Parish is mostly in the Shire of Caithness. The entire Parish contains 3,815 Inhabitants.

(*) The increase of population at Inch, at Leswalt, and in most of the other Parishes in the Shire of Wigtown, is ascribed to the influx of Irish Settlers.—(b) In the Parish of Kirkcolm, feus have been granted, and lands sublet to small tenants.—(c) At Port-Nessock in the Parish of Kirkmaiden, the construction of a harbour pier has caused a temporary increase of population; but the decay of careful Scottish manners which checked early marriages, is another cause much more efficient: the influx of Irish Settlers, who require nothing but the cheapest and coarsest food, producing an increase of population without restraint.—One male upwards of 100 years of age, in Kirkmaiden Parish.—(d) A great increase of population is noticed at Newton-Stewart, in the Parish of Penningham.—(e) The improvement of the harbour of Portpatrick, has created employment, and attracted new Settlers.—(f) One male upwards of 100 years of age in Sorby Parish.

REMARKS:

1. IN the Number of Males attributed to the Army (Column 4.) are included certain Militia Battalions, which happened to be embodied on the 28th day of May 1821, in the following Counties, viz.: in Bedford 336 Men; in Bucks 611; in Cambridge 478; in Derby 914; in Dorset 436; in Hertford 509; in Huntingdon 175; in Kent 1,208; in Middlesex (London) 526; in Northampton 614; in Somerset 817; in Southampton (Isle of Wight) 66; in Stafford 1,134; in Suffolk 999; in Surrey 759; in York 789; in Brecon 213; in Carnarvon 141; in Denbigh 372; and in Glamorgan 413;—in all, 11,510 Men. These Men not having been included in the Enumeration Abstract of the several Counties, the number of Males, and consequently the Population of those Counties, is (strictly speaking) rather understated as compared to that of the other Counties: Those who serve in the Militia being generally, though not always, taken from among the Inhabitants of the County for which they serve.

2. The Abstract of the Returns obtained from the Islands in the British Seas, is not included in the General Summary of Great Britain, but appears in the subsequent Appendix (A.); and in another Appendix (B.) are collected the Parishes and Places which may be deemed to constitute the Metropolis of the British Dominions.

(Signed)

Jn^o Rickman,

*Appointed by His Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for the Home Department, to digest and reduce into Order
the Population Returns.*

THE Total Number of Persons in the Metropolis was . . . 1,225,694 . . . and the Number of Persons whose Ages were returned, was . . . 940,431, . . . whence it appears, that the Ages of one fourth part of the Persons therein enumerated, have not been obtained in compliance with the question to that effect.

The Total Number of Enumeration Returns received from the Metropolis was 175; twenty-one of which did not contain any answer to the question concerning the Ages of Persons, and are thus marked (+): and a small proportion of the Returns of Ages were somewhat deficient or redundant,—or incorrect in the respective numbers of Males and Females.

FIRST QUESTION.

Total of Baptisms in the Ten Years, 867.

This number exceeds the Baptisms of any Ten Years before. And if the Baptisms are compared with the Burials, the excess of the Baptisms above the Burials is not only greater than it has been before, but greater in a most unusual ratio. The following Table, compiled from the Registers for the last Fifty Years, will show these results.

Periods of Ten Years.	Baptisms.	Burials.	Excess of Baptisms.	Marriages.
From 1771 to 1780, both inclusive - -	640	407	233	115
" 1781 - 1790 - " - - -	655	478	177	168
" 1791 - 1800 - " - - -	761	586	175	166
" 1801 - 1810 - " - - -	799	520	279	183
" 1811 - 1820 - " - - -	867	386	481	165

By this Table it will be seen, that the excess of Baptisms above the Burials, in its unusual amount, arises partly from the actual increase of Baptisms, partly from a great diminution of Burials; and as the Marriages have not increased during the last Forty years, the progressive increase of the Population indicates that a greater proportion of the Children of the several families is reared to maturity; or that the families are more prolific; or both; which I believe to be the case.

Of the Baptisms of the last Ten years, viz. 867, I reckon 630, or nearly Three-Fourths, to be Baptisms of Children belonging to persons immediately employed in the Collieries, viz. Pitmen, Waggoners, Engine Wrights, Smiths, Agents, &c.

The Pitmen commonly marry at an early age; and in this Parish they have, most of them, numerous families. It is an advantage to them to have families; because their Boys find work in the Pits when they are very young; beginning to get work and wages from the age of seven or eight. The Earnings of the Pitmen far exceed those of Agricultural Labourers. If they have two working Boys, or even one, their Earnings on an average are double those of Agricultural Labourers; whilst their Girls have the same advantage of Field-work as others. But the work of the Pitmen requires a more nourishing diet than is necessary for a Farming Labourer; and they are liable to casualties, which disable them at times. Their work is hard and laborious, and they are apt to overwork themselves to finish their task the sooner; in other respects, their employment does not seem to be unhealthy. Few of them are very robust, or attain to a great age; and few are positively sickly; and, upon the whole, in respect of health and strength, they are a race holding a middle place between the higher and the lower standard of the Peasantry and the Manufacturing Population. They form a very distinct race, inasmuch as they marry almost exclusively among themselves, and bring up their Sons to their own course of life. They also live very much together, keeping little society with other classes of people. Hence there is a strong sympathy, and little improvement of understanding among them.

The facility with which the Boys obtain work and fair wages, when they are young, is of great disadvantage to them as to their manners and right education; because it tempts the Parents too often to forego a due control over them for the sake of the wages which they bring home; and the Boys, by their hard labour having a right to indulgence, soon become the masters.

Their occupation promotes their health in this way, that it induces an absolute necessity of a certain degree of cleanliness; for a Pitman must wash himself copiously after coming out of the Pit, and he must do this every day, and from head to foot. This constant bathing I consider to be a chief preservative of the tone and strength of their constitution; and, combined with the quality of their diet, it serves to support them against the severe exertions of their labour, and prolongs their lives in tolerable health.

Total of Burials in Ten Years, 386, being the smallest number of Burials in the same period during the last Fifty years, under a continued increase of Population. The probable causes of this Decrease of Burials are, 1st, the suppression of Small Pox; 2d, a superior degree of comfort and increased means of subsistence; 3d, improved habits of temperance and sobriety; the practice of hard drinking especially being much diminished in this neighbourhood.

The results which have been stated on a comparison of the Baptisms and Burials in this Parish during the last Ten years, and on a comparison of them with the Baptisms and Burials of former periods of Ten years, must be taken with some qualification before we can infer from them the absolute Increase of Population; because the families of Pitmen emigrate to and fro; and it is possible that young people, or young thriving families, may have come into the Parish, and old people, or decayed and old families, may have gone out in such proportions as to have given to our Registers a more favourable balance than they would have had without such migrations, and to have carried to some other Parishes more Deaths and fewer Births than would have appeared in their books, if such interchange had not taken place.

On this account some correction of the results may be necessary; to what extent I cannot exactly judge; but there is no known reason for thinking it ought to be any thing considerable.

SECOND QUESTION.

There is a Decrease in the Marriages of the last year. This I attribute to a considerable change of Inhabitants which took place in one quarter of the Parish, by the laying off of an old Colliery. The younger Pitmen who had belonged to it readily found work elsewhere, and migrated to it; and the settlers who have come in to occupy the houses which they left, probably have not brought an equal number of persons of a marriageable age, or their recent arrival may not have given equal scope to them to form connections of Marriage.

THIRD QUESTION.

I have no knowledge of any Burials or Marriages in this Parish, beside those which are duly registered. I believe that a few Baptisms take place which are not registered, and it is possible that a few Children may be born who are not baptized. The number of Children whom I suppose to be baptized, without being registered, is very small. They are Children baptized among the Methodist Sectaries. (Signed) John Davison, Rector.

The SUMMARY of the County of Essex is collected from the Registers of Three hundred and Ninety-nine Parish Churches and Four Chapels, and from Three Registers of Dissenters; and it is believed that no Return (except that of Great Waltham) remains due.—Several of the Returns mention Un-entered Baptisms, Burials, and Marriages, to the following amount; viz.

Annual Average Number of Un-entered Baptisms, 410;—Burials, 162;—Marriage, 1.

County of Gloucester.

* * * The Hundred of BARTON-REGIS is entered with the City of BRISTOL, at the end of the County.

The SUMMARY of the County of HERTFORD is collected from the Registers of One hundred and Thirty Parish Churches and Two Chapels, and from Two Registers of Dissenters; and it is believed that no Return whatever remains due.—Several of the Returns mention Un-entered Baptisms, Burials and Marriages, to the following amount; viz: . . . Annual Average Number of Un-entered Baptisms, 269;—Burials, 180;—Marriages, 2.

The above number of Marriages in HERTFORDSHIRE is below the usual proportion; this is attributed to the custom of being married, or pretending to be married, in London.

In a short time the following Churches will probably be added to the above described List :

1. St. Michael's Church, the Walls, Roof and Spire of which have lately been finished by the Parishioners, at the expense of nearly £. 35,000, raised by a Rate on the Inhabitants, but now found to be insufficient to complete the work. It will probably contain about 2,000 Persons, and almost the whole of the lower part or Ground Floor is proposed to be free for the Poor.
 2. St. Luke's Church, now commenced and to be soon completed by the Corporation, at their sole expense, which will probably amount to £. 20,000, exclusive of the Ground, which is very valuable; it is calculated at least to contain 1,300, and it may be hoped that a liberal number of Sittings will be free for the Poor.
 3. A District Free Church, which there is encouragement to believe will be erected by a Grant from the National Fund, as the Commissioners have been pleased to approve of a Plan which has been submitted to them, and Ground for Burials, &c. has been or will be provided.
- Ten of the existing Churches in Liverpool may be calculated to contain from 800 to 2,000, and the others from 300 to 700 Persons.

Established Churches and Chapels, &c. - - - - - 16
Dissenting Chapels and Buildings - - - - - 27

TOTAL Number in Liverpool - - - - - 43

IN the Account sent to Government in the Year 1821, the numbers were stated at 38, not as now at 43, which was occasioned through the Methodists having only one Register Book for the use of several of their Chapels, in which the Baptisms and Burials at them were inserted.

With the exception of seven or eight, which are large and commodious, these Buildings are small, and cannot probably contain more than from 300 to 500 Persons.

The great number of Dissenting Places of Worship has undoubtedly been principally, if not wholly, owing to the facility of obtaining Licences for them, and the deficiency of Churches for the admittance of the Poor in a due proportion to the rapidly increased Population for at least Fifty years last past. For in 1770 the Inhabitants were calculated to amount only to 34,000, and in the late Census were found to be upwards of 118,000, exclusive of a very populous part of the Town, which is not within the limits of the Parish.

Liverpool, 3d January 1822.

The SUMMARY of the County of LANCASTER is collected from the Registers of Sixty-nine Parish Churches and One hundred and Thirty-four Chapels, from One Register of Roman Catholics, and from Six Registers of Dissenters; and it is believed that no Return whatever remains due.—Several of the Returns mention Un-entered Baptisms, Burials and Marriages, to the following amount; viz.

Annual Average Number of Un-entered Baptisms, 5,610;—Burials, 1,542;—Marriage, 1.

The Number of Chapels erected in Lancashire since the Marriage Act (1754) is such, that Eighty-seven of the Returns contain no Marriages; and at many other new Chapels in this County no permanent Register is kept, as being incorporated annually with that of the Mother Church.

The SUMMARY of the County of NORTHUMBERLAND is collected from the Registers of Eighty-seven Parish Churches and Thirteen Chapels, and from Six Registers of Dissenters; and it is believed that no Return whatever remains due.—Several of the Returns mention Un-entered Baptisms, Burials and Marriages, to the following amount; viz.

Annual Average Number of Un-entered Baptisms, 686;—Burials, 467;—Marriages, 103.

The large number of irregular Marriages in this County, is explained by the custom of resorting to the border of Scotland for that purpose.

County of Nottingham.

(c) There was no Burial Ground at St. Ann's until the year 1813, when a new Church having been built, a portion of Ground was set apart for interring the dead.

(j) Previous to the year 1813 there was only one Register for Cal-verley, Idle and Pudsey.

(k) The Chapelrys thus marked are in the Parish of Halifax. The number of Inhabitants in the Wapentake of Morley is 185,768, of whom 92,850 reside in the Parish of Halifax. This important Parish, besides the Mother Church, contains Thirteen Chapels, many of which are found to be insufficient for the respective Congregations.

(l) The Church at Drighlington was consecrated in 1815, and that at Liversedge in 1816, previous to which time the Registers were included with those of Birstall.

(m) Burials only take place at Trinity Church.

THE SUMMARY OF THE METROPOLIS is collected from the Register of St. Paul's Cathedral, and the Registers of Eighty-eight Parish Churches, within the Walls of the City of London; from Eleven Parish Churches and Three Chapels, without the Walls; from the Register of Westminster Abbey, and of Nine Parish Churches and One Chapel, within the City and Liberties of Westminster; from Twenty-eight Out-Parish Churches and Three Chapelries; and from Five other Parish Churches, not included within the Bills of Mortality; in all, from One Hundred and Forty-three Churches and Seven Chapelries: and it is believed that no Return whatever remains due.—Several of the Returns mention Un-entered Baptisms, Burials and Marriages, to the following amount; viz.

ON THE ASSUMED LIMITS AND EXTENT OF THE METROPOLIS.

THE METROPOLIS of THE BRITISH EMPIRE, being situated in the two Counties of Middlesex and Surrey, could not be distinctly noticed in any preceding part of The PARISH REGISTER ABSTRACT. In an Appendix to The ENUMERATION ABSTRACT (p. 549) its Population is exhibited in Five Divisions, and amounts to One million Two hundred and Twenty-five thousand Seven hundred (1,225,700) Persons: but, considering that the arrivals of Coasting Vessels in the Port of London may be taken at 5,500 in the year 1700; at 6,400 in 1750; at 10,400 in 1801; at 13,500 in 1811; and at about 17,000 per annum since the year 1817; producing a constant though fluctuating accession to the Population, to a larger amount than elsewhere, a Twenty-fifth part, instead of a Fiftieth part, is added, in forming a Comparison with the Parish Register Returns.—With this addition, the METROPOLIS, in the year 1801, contained about Nine hundred thousand (900,000) Inhabitants; in 1811, One million and Fifty thousand (1,050,000); in 1821, One million Two hundred and Seventy-four thousand Eight hundred (1,274,800). The Population of the years 1700 and 1750 is computed in the manner described in the PRELIMINARY OBSERVATIONS (p. xxix).

1.—The Walls of the ancient City of London included a space, now in the middle of the Metropolis, about one mile and a half in length from east to west, and rather more than half a mile in breadth. The Population has diminished nearly Three-fifths since the beginning of the last century; many Streets having been widened, and Public Buildings and Warehouses erected, whereby the number of Inhabited Houses has been lessened; independently of which, the Inhabitants have decreased in a much larger proportion, from the less crowded manner of residence which has gradually taken place.

2.—The City of London without the Walls, is an extension of the same ancient City, and is under the same Jurisdiction. In computing the Increase or Diminution of the Population of this District, by means of the Parish Registers, two difficulties occur; first, because several of the Parishes, which form part of it, extend so far beyond its limits, as almost to double the amount of Population, if these Parishes are included entire: It has, therefore, been necessary to ascertain the Increase or Diminution upon the entire Parishes, and afterwards to apportion it between the City without the Walls and the Out-Parishes, the Enumeration Returns of the parts within the City and without being distinct. The other difficulty arises from the disputed Jurisdiction of the City of London as to the Borough of Southwark, a claim which has not been fully substantiated; and the Five Southwark Parishes are accordingly here reckoned among the Out-Parishes.

3.—The City of Westminster, once an Episcopal See, and now the Seat of Government, adjoins the City of London, extending westward.

4.—The appellation of the Out-Parishes, is taken from the London Bills of Mortality, which were first used in the year 1562; and, from 1603, have been kept in regular series. These Bills were intended to afford timely notice of any alarming increase of the Plague, from which London was then seldom free. But the crowded part of the City was purified by the memorable Conflagration of 1666; in the preceding year 68,596 persons had died of the Plague, which has since entirely disappeared.

disappeared. The Bills of Mortality purport to exhibit the Number of Christenings and Burials, but are not to be relied upon for the full Number of either. A COMPARISON of the Results of these Bills, and of the collection of Parish-Registers under the Act of 1821, is here subjoined:—

The number of Burials within the Bills of Mortality (as distinguished from the Metropolis) has absolutely decreased since the year 1700, according to the Bills of Mortality—and, according to the Parish Registers, cannot be said to have increased (see Parish Register Abstract of 1811, p. 200); while the Population has increased as Three to Two;—from 665,200 to 1,050,500.

5.—A few Parishes, now forming part of the Metropolis, have not been brought into the Bills of Mortality. The rapid Increase of the Population in the Suburbs since the beginning of the last Century, shows how rapidly the Metropolis increases in extent, although its Population has not increased so fast as that of the Kingdom in general. In 1700, the Metropolis contained almost an Eighth part of the Inhabitants of England and Wales; in 1750 and 1801, about a Tenth part; in 1811 and at present, about a Twelfth part.

6.—Objections may undoubtedly be made to the propriety of the Limits of the Metropolis herein assumed; it may be therefore right to add, that the Total Population of all the Parishes whose Churches are situate within Eight Miles rectilinear around St. Paul's Cathedral (including the aforesaid addition of One Twenty-fifth part) in 1801 amounted to One million Thirty-one thousand Five hundred (1,031,500); in 1811, to One million Two hundred and Twenty thousand Two hundred (1,220,200); and in 1821, to One million Four hundred and Eighty-one thousand Five hundred (1,481,500): the Parish of Woolwich not included.

The Population ascribed to the City of Paris, is included in a District of this size.

THE Number of UNREGISTERED INTERMENTS in the Metropolis, has been a question much agitated, on occasion of forming computations for Life Annuities, and for other purposes. In the last six months of 1794, it was ascertained by the Collector of the then Tax on Burials, that 3,148 Persons were interred without being registered; and it is not likely that the whole number of Interments, or even of Burial Grounds, were discoverable for the purpose of Taxation. If it be assumed that, on account of the Unregistered Interments, a third part (about 8,000 annually) may be added to the Registered Burials, the Annual Mortality of the Metropolis, in the middle of the last Century, was as One to Twenty of the Inhabitants, at present as One to Forty, showing a vast improvement in Health and Longevity; but it was to be expected, that the extension of Population over a larger space than formerly, added to the causes which have prolonged human life in the Kingdom at large (see PRELIMINARY OBSERVATIONS, p. xxvi) would produce this salutary effect, which has been most conspicuous as regarding the life of Children within the London Bills of Mortality.
